"WE WANT BEER," LEGIONNAIRES CRY

HYDE SAYS HE GATHERS DATA ON BREWERIES

SEEKS EFFECT OF LEGAL BEER ON FARMERS

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—A second arm of the federal government is dipping into the rumor-surrounded topic of legalized beer and its possible effect upon the nation's economics.

Just about the time the American Legion in Detroit was voting for a referendum, Secretary Hyde dropped word today that the department of agriculture was initiating an inquiry as to the effect of legal brewing on the farmer.

The statement started anew the ferment of rumors that stirred throughout the capital when Walter H. Newton, one of the president's secretaries, collected data on the beer-economic depression question.

Situation No Clearer

When the froth was blown away from today's development, however, it left no clearer than before the question of what—if anything—may result from the crescendo of beer talk in Washington. It is known, moreover, that at least one high official considers the talk just so much talk.

In a recent conversation this same executive said that nowadays any mention of legal beer was mention of the impossible.

In fact, within an hour after Secretary Hyde had disclosed his intention of investigating the subject, some of his associates said he regretted ever having mentioned it.

Hyde said investigation had not been suggested by the White House and that the results would not be submitted to the president.

Secretary Newton likewise was reticent.

Asked if he had anything more to say on the beer data obtained by him last week, he said, "the incident is closed."

At the time the information was gathered, Mr. Newton said it was not for the use of the president and was obtained at the request of someone not connected with the White House. The name of the recipient has remained a mystery.

Newton said while no more information was being sought at this time, it was possible further steps would be taken if additional data were requested.

Word of Hyde's action and of the American Legion referendum vote reached the White House almost immediately, but no comment came from there.

Curran Pleased

Little time elapsed, however, before other quarters in the capital were heard from.

The Anti-Saloon league issued a statement condemning the Legions vote and maintaining it did "not reflect the sentiment of the country and probably not of the Legion itself."

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, referring to the Legion's vote of more than two to one, said:

"I have believed and publicly

Legionnaires March In Windsor, Canada

Detroit, Sept. 24, (AP)—Legionnaires who attended the 1931 national convention mustered their rapidly departing forces for a last parade today in Windsor, Ont., across the Canadian border from Detroit.

The parade, the result of invitations to Ralph T. O'Neil, retiring national commander, brought out four bands and several state delegations. Legionnaires who had taken up residence in Windsor during the convention joined the marchers. The parade wound through Windsor's downtown section and into Sandwich, a suburb, before disbanding.

OFFICIALS SCAN BUSINESS NEWS

Developments in Wage Cut Situation Are Closely Watched

Washington, Sept. 24, (AP)—The studied silence in official Washington on wage cuts fails to cloak the disagreement as to the wisdom or propriety of the move initiated by some corporations.

Whatever the view held, however, there is a uniform watch on in both federal and private organization ranks to trace developments on the shifting day scene. The latest news of importance goes immediately to the executives directly interested.

Items having a bearing today included:

The Pittsburgh Coal company, among the largest bituminous producers of that district, slashed salaries ten percent. Nothing said of wages.

Hoover Interested.

Prospect of trouble apparent in Milwaukee, where members of a hosiery workers union threatened a walkout unless proposed wage reductions of between 30 and 45 percent by the Phoenix and Holeproof companies are rescinded.

In New York, the Anaconda Copper company revealed salaries had been cut up to 15 percent as of July 1 and "wage adjustments" also have been made.

The only word coming from the white house was that nothing would be said there. President Hoover kept in close touch with what went on.

There is an understanding among government officers that whatever is to be said will be said at the labor or commerce departments, which have to do with questions affecting the workingman and business. That has made other officials reticent, but one of them did take occasion today to criticize wage-slashing as a product of bad-thinking.

Textile Workers Blame Gandhi for Desperate Plight

London, Sept. 24, (AP)—Undaunted by threats against his life from Lancashire workers, who blame his "message of the spinning wheel" for the desperate state of the Textile districts, Mahatma Gandhi will go tomorrow to a village near Manchester to spend the week-end in the heart of the factory district.

Accompanying him will be three or four British government detectives—200-pound huskies—but the authorities believe the leader of the Indian independence movement will be allowed to go about without hindrance and his message will be listened to with nothing more ill-mannered than a few taunts.

Mr. Gandhi's own attitude is that the people will not harm him when they understand that in the boycott of the all-India National Congress against British cotton goods he meant no harm for Lancashire, only good for India.

Arraignment for Murder Postponed

Holyoke, Colo., Sept. 24, (AP)—The arraignment of John Markham, 19 year old Illinois youth, confessed slayer of Stanley M. Moore, Michigan College of Mines student, was postponed today when he told District Judge H. E. Munson that he had no attorney.

Markham, who was brought here yesterday under heavy guard from Denver, said his father in Granite City, Ill., was making arrangements for counsel for him. The arraignment was set for Oct. 17 and at that time if Markham fails to secure an attorney one will be appointed by the court.

Dirigible Akron Has Another Test

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 24 (AP)—The navy dirigible Arkon completed its second trial flight at 10:46 p. m. E. S. T. tonight, hooking up to her portable mooring mast after cruising in wide circles over the vicinity of Akron for three hours and 51 minutes. The takeoff, flight and landing were apparently without untoward incident.

TREASURY HAS TO DECIDE ON TAX PROBLEM

GOVERNMENT NEEDS MORE MONEY FOR EXPENSES

Washington, Sept. 24, (AP)—The American taxpayer probably will know in a month or six weeks whether Congress will be asked to dig deeper into his pocketbook.

Treasury experts are trying to solve the problem presented by declining tax receipts and mounting expenditures.

A decision may be expected several weeks before Congress convenes in December.

Whether it is for tax revision or continuation of the present borrowing policy with consequent increases in the public debt, President Hoover must pass on it before it goes to Congress.

The president has been represented as opposed to higher taxes during the depression if it is at all possible to avoid them. He has urged drastic economy all along the line, but whether this will be enough without more taxes remains for the treasury to find out.

Tax Receipts Drop.

Mr. Hoover's latest expression on taxes was given Monday before the American Legion convention at Detroit.

Evidently referring to proposals of some Republicans and Democrats in Congress for higher taxes on the wealthy, the president warned the Legionnaires not to be misled by "those who say that we need only to tax the rich to secure the funds we need."

Senators and representatives in Washington in both parties are widely divided on the question of a tax boost.

Treasury experts for some time have been trying to find new sources of revenue.

This work was intensified late in the last fiscal year when income tax receipts declined approximately $550,000,000 as compared with the previous year. It has continued since the start of the new fiscal year as the fall in receipts has grown.

For the fiscal year to the close of business September 22 income tax receipts amounted to $305,594,578 as compared with $538,353,914 in the same period of the previous year.

Total receipts to date from all sources have amounted to $549,962,789, while expenditures totalled $914,221,026 leaving the government with a deficit of $364,258,237.

The receipts are $241,000,000 less than for the same period last year while the expenditures are $170,000,000 greater.

In addition, the government has to meet obligations incurred in other years and pay interest on the public debt left over from the world war. It must pay more than $100,000,000 on the public debt in December and pay approximately $990,000,000 for maturing securities.

Faced with this imperative need for larger income, experts recalled today that both Secretary Mellon and undersecretary Mills have pointed out that the income tax as a base for the government's tax system had failed to meet the needs. They said that in times of prosperity the income tax had provided large returns to the government, but that it was so responsive to business depression that it did not afford a dependable base.

Suspects Are Not Husband's Slayers, Says Mrs. Collings

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—After failing to identify two suspects as her husband's slayers, Mrs. Benjamin Collings late today said she would appear at an adjourned inquest to tell her story of piracy and murder on Long Island Sound for the seventh time.

A single glance at the suspects led her to declare they were not the men she accuses of boarding the Collings cabin cruiser September 9, throwing her husband overboard and kidnapping her.

The men, Timothy Quinn, 45, former inmate of an insane asylum,, and Edward Tompkins, 18, a friend of Quinn, were released.

The inquest, which was adjourned for a week last Friday, will not begin until Mrs. Collings arrives at Huntington, Long Island, from her home in Stamford, Conn., District Attorney Alexander Blue said.

FOSTER BANK CLOSED

Madison, Wis., Sept. 24, (AP)—The closing of the State Bank of Foster, at Foster, Wis., was announced today by the State Banking department. The institution had capital of $15,000, surplus of $14,000 and deposits of $301,693.49.

Wilson Scores Legion, Legion Scores Wilson

DENY ORGANIZATION HAS GONE OVER TO WET SIDE

Detroit, Sept. 24, (AP)—Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, N. C., new national commander of the American Legion, tonight answered Dr. Clarence True Wilson's comment on the Legion's action in calling for a national referendum on prohibition with a denial that the Legion had gone over to the "wet" side and an assertion that the Legion has and always will support the constitution.

"I certainly do not take the view that the Legion has taken the wet side," Stevens said. "The Legion did not take the wet side by calling for a referendum, but simply called for full expression of the opinion of the citizenry of the country.

"I have seen fewer drunks at this convention than ever at any convention.

"A million of us have stood up for the constitution and still do stand for it."

Col. Frederick M. Alger, of Detroit, chairman of the Legion convention corporation, replied to Dr. Wilson as follows:

"Tell the gentleman, if he is such, that had he been here in Detroit he would have seen 92,000 men entirely sober, march down the street.

"I would recommend that Dr. Wilson find out what he is talking about. When a man stays far away from the front and tries to criticise from the rear his criticism is of no weight.'

DRY WORKER SAYS HE SAW MANY "DRUNKS"

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 24, (AP)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Methodist dry leader, attacked the action of the American Legion in voting for a prohibition referendum in a statement tonight asserting that at the Detroit convention "numbers of staggering drunks disgraced the uniform and yelled for beer.'

The statement of the general secretary of the board of temperance prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was in St. Joseph for a church conference, follows:

"The Legion has again taken the wet side. I am not surprised. If you have seen the outfit that gathered in Detroit as I did, you would be surprised that 394 men (the number of delegates who voted against the referendum resolution) could be found who would stand up for the constitution and decency and sobriety, where did they get them?

"When these men were being trained for overseas it was as sober soldiers in dry cantonments. America tried to make total abstainers of everyone. They went across to France the cleanest army that ever assembled on any field. A million maintained their American ideals even in French cities.

"But some dropped down to another level. This is the crowd that seeks to dominate the Legion

Guardsmen Protect Iowa Veterinarians From Irate Farmers

Tipton, Iowa, Sept. 24, (AP)—Iowa national guardsmen today won their first offensive against farmers who for six months have resisted the state bovine tuberculosis test law. There was no physical opposition or demonstration against the testing.

Moving at dawn, troopers posted machine guns at strategic cedar county crossroads, marked off a "restricted area" of six square miles embracing farms of seven leaders in the insurrection and clamped down a tight censorship which baffled reporters until it was lifted at noon.

After a preliminary skirmish at the farm of J. W. Lenker, which failed to test the strength of the four battalions sent there simply because Lenker's cattle were not on the farm, the guardsmen were deployed on other farms where testing went forward with dispatch.

Expects More Arrests.

This move, however, came only after Lenker was escorted back to Tipton under military guard and placed in the guardhouse. Adjutant General W. H. Bailey in Des Moines said that charges against Lenker included removing quarantined cattle illegally and contempt of court.

General Bailey said he expected the arrest of a "few more" farmers before nightfall on similar charges. Lenker is among the 44 opposition leaders against whom there is an injunction restraining them from interfering with the test.

The farmers, who have waged sporadic warfare against the state law by various devices including open defiance of peace officers, today were submissive as six veterinarians, all protected by the guardsmen, testified six quarantined herds.

Between 125 and 150 tests were made today. Veterinarians said they expected to complete tests of several other herds today.

Prices On London Exchange Go Higher

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Another buying impulse was registered today on the stock exchange, and the newspapers spoke of it as a "boom."

Stock brokers generally described today as the best they have had this year. Prices went up by four, five and six shillings in a few hours, so great was the demand, and traders everywhere were optimistic.

Only British funds were somewhat reactionary, owing to the weakness of sterling, but gilt-edged stocks were fairly firm with a good deal of small investment business in progress.

ON WAY HOME

Pernambuco, Brazil, Sept. 25 (Friday) (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin left her mooring mast at 3:15 a. m., G. M. T., today (10:15 p. m. E. S. T. Thursday) on her homeward cruise to Germany.

PROBE REVEALS POLICE LAXITY

Gambling and Drinking Permitted in New York Clubhouse

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Gambling, liquor selling and a double killing were described today to the Hofstadter legislative committee as incidents in the night life behind the heavily barred doors of Tammany District clubhouse.

A city detective, discussing two slayings in 1926 which he said occurred in a club headed by Harry C. Perry, chief clerk of the city court, testified that police had known for five years the identity of "the actual perpetrator" of the killings.

To back up his contention before the committee investigating the municipal government he presented a police "wanted card" bearing a picture of the suspect.

"Is there an indictment pending or has a bench warrant ever been issued for this man?" asked State Senator John J. McNaboe, Democrat.

"No," replied the witness, Detective John O'Neill.

Liquor on Sale

After a long argument the committee voted to admit into its records the "wanted card" and photograph which gave the suspect's name as Lorenzo Fuzzio, alias Larry Young Gilmore, 38.

Earlier in the day Captain Lewis J. Valentine, a former police inspector, told of what he called unsuccessful attempts to persuade Perry and John H. McCooey Democratic chieftain in Brooklyn to supress gambling in Democratic clubs.

He also testified that liquor had been on sale in a gambling room of Sheriff Thomas M. Farley's cub and that a loaded revolver was found when police raided the place.

The story of all raids on the clubs was much the same. Seldom was anyone convicted on the gambling charges.

As an example, the captain cited that when 82 men arrested in the Perry club were haled into court, all were discharged after it had been pointed out no complaint had been made by the landlord (Perry) or by the tenants (members of the club).

Woodcock Upholds Cunningham's Work

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Amos W. W. Woodock, prohibition director, said today that despite rumored political complaints, J. Frank Cunningham, deputy administrator at Milwaukee, was doing excellent work and would be retained in office.

"I have never had a single direct complaint about Cunningham," he said, "there have been one or two indirect rumors from politicians.

"Because of these rumors I had a comparative statement of Cunningham's work prepared. On the face of this statement he is doing excellent work. He is increasing his activity."

JAPAN ORDERS SOLDIERS OUT OF MANCHURIA

STIMSON SAYS U. S. ALSO WORKING FOR PEACE

BY P. I. LIPSEY, JR.
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Geneva, Sept. 24 (AP)—Hope of peace in Manchuria was raised tonight by two factors—an official announcement from Tokyo that Japanese troops had been withdrawn from Kirin, and Secretary of State Stimson's assurance that the United States was working along parallel lines with the League of Nations council to bring about a settlement.

The Japanese announcement, published by that nation's delegation here, was regarded as evidence that Japan had decided to yield to demands that her troops be ordered out of Manchuria. It buoyed hope also that the Japanese would agree to an inquiry into her conflict with China by a mixed commission under league auspices.

Dispels Pessimism

Another official Japanese communique denied reports that troops had occupied Esingtao and Chefoo and that Japanese sailors had been debarked in China.

Secretary Stimson's note, received by the council today, banished the pessimism which for four days attended the efforts to bring about peace.

While technical difficulties still were considerable, league leaders felt American influence for conciliation was just the additional factor needed to bring a settlement.

The satisfaction aroused by the American note exceeded the bounds of the present dispute; international leaders said that in any future disturbance threatening peace the tremendous influence of the United States would be thrown into the scale on the side of concerted action for pacific settlement.

Informed quarters understood the council's proposal awaiting Japanese approval was for a mixed non-military board to which Japan would name two non-Japanese, China two non-Chinese and the council three neutral members.

The assembly of the league displayed its authoritative interest in the council's conciliatory activities by publicly declaring through President Nicholas Titulescu it wished the council to continue in session until success was attained. The assembly also made clear it wished to have a report on the council's decisions so it might act on them.

Naval Plan Fails

The assembly's move was seen as an expression by all delegations that they as well as the council members, were deeply concerned to see the league's peace-making effort bear good fruit.

The Italian proposal for an immediate armaments truce appeared to have received a serious if not fatal blow today when France, through Rene Massigli, characterized it as practically impossible of application.

M. Massigli agreed with the Japanese spokesman that the truce proposal should be postponed until the beginning of the disarmament conference in February. Thus American advocacy of the truce, announced yesterday by Minister Hugh R. Wilson, appeared to have come to naugth.

The assembly plenary and committee sessions today adopted a number of final reports in preparation for adjournment Saturday or Monday. The council, however, is expected to remain on the job until daylight is seen through the Manchurian trouble.

3 Extortionists Arrested by Police

Chicago, Sept. 24, (AP)—Three men alleged by police to have extorted thousands of dollars from physicians were arrested tonight while one of their victims was paying them $7,000.

The men held are Charles Fried, 33, Joseph Haddad, 31, and Morris Bogolowski, 35, all ex-convicts.

The gang, police said, made a practice of levying tribute on their victims under threat of spreading rumors to the effect that the physicians were engaged in irregular business. Failing in this homes of those marked for blackmail were bombed.

Grand Rapids Woman Held for Forgery

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—A woman who said she was Inez Hamlin of Grand Rapids, Mich., was held in jail here today charged with passing a forged check. She was arrested in Franklin under the name of Mrs. John Harrington, alias Mrs. J. H. Stoeger. Her six year old daughter stayed in jail with her mother.

Manistique Will Return to Slow Time On Saturday

Manistique, Sept. 24, (Special)—At a special session of the city council tonight, it was unanimously agreed that Manistique would join Escanaba and Gladstone in changing back to central standard time at midnight, Saturday, September 26. The two former cities hve already passed an ordinance authorizing the change to slow time for the winter months.

STEVENS NEW LEGION CHIEF

North Carolina Attorney Succeeds O'Neil as Commander

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—The American Legion today chose as its national commander one of the school boy soldiers of the World war.

He is Henry Leonidas Stevens, Jr., 35-year-old attorney of Warsaw, N. C., an overseas veteran of the 818th Machine Gun Battalion, who left the University of North Carolina to go to officers' training camp and studied law at Harvard after the war.

Stevens was elected by acclamation after an incomplete roll call of the departments at the closing session of the thirteenth national convention showed his strength far ahead of that of six opposing candidates.

Vice Commanders

Emmet O'Neal, of Louisville, Ky., was the first candidate to quit the race. He interrupted the balloting with a motion that Stevens' election be made unanimous. The other candidates supported his motion. They were Ray Murray, Iowa; Edgar B. Dunlop, Georgia; John A. Elden, Ohio; Frank L. Pinola, Pennsylvania, and Louis A. Johnson, West Virginia.

Five national vice commanders were elected without opposition. They are: Richard F. Paul, Canton, Mass.; Col. Harold Plummer, Madison, Wis.; Forest G. Cooper, Indianola, Miss.; Roy Cook, New Mexico, and Frank Brooks, Bellingham, Wash.

The Rev. Father H. A. Darsche, of Bradley, Ill., an overseas veteran and a member of the French Legion of Honor, was elected national chaplain.

Commander Stevens received his office amid an enthusiastic ovation and promised his full devotion to carrying on the program of the Legion. His first duty was to preside at a meeting of the national executive committee, held immediately after adjournment of the national convention.

AUXILIARY OFFICERS

Detroit, Sept. 24, (AP)—Officials of the American Legion Auxiliary closed their business sessions today with the election of Mrs. Louise Werle Williams, Tuckahoe, N. Y., as national president to succeed Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, of Douglas, Ariz.

There were no contests for the offices to be filled by five vice-presidents of the auxiliary. The installation of officers followed the election of Mrs. Williams. The vice-presidents are: Mrs. Agnes Bourisk, Sanford, Me.; Mrs. R. W. Waldrop, Bessemer, Ala.; Mrs. C. F. Snover, Fort Atkinson, Wis.; Mrs. Malcom Douglass, Seattle, Wash.; and Mrs. James Morris, Bismark, N. D.

Mrs. Williams was elected to the national presidency over Mrs. W. H. Morgan, Edwardsville, Ill. The convention casting 448 votes for Mrs. Williams and 278 for Mrs. Morgan.

Mrs. Julie Russel Pickert was named American Vice President of Fidac, International Society within the auxiliary.

No Work Available, Prisoners Are Held

Lansing, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ray Brundage, commissioner of paroles, said today that scores of inmates of state penal institutions are being held because they cannot find jobs.

More than 450 prisoners have completed their minimum terms and are eligible for release. Some are of such a type they would not be paroled in any event, but a majority are minor offenders, and are only adding to prison congestion.

Brundage said he will explain the situation to the state crime commission meeting in Ionia Friday. If work on a farm or employment of any sort sufficient to provide a living can be found, enough men to fill the jobs will be paroled. The policy of the parole division has been to hold men unless their immediate future is more or less assured, upon the theory that idleness and lack of a means of support would encourage them to become crime repeaters.

ORDINANCES VALID

Lansing, Sept. 24 (AP)—City ordinances requiring full crews on switching trains operating inside the municipal limits are valid, Paul W. Voorhies, attorney general, ruled today. Ironwood and Lansing have ordinances requiring complete crews.

ASK CONGRESS TO AUTHORIZE POPULAR VOTE

WILL NOT REQUEST FULL PAYMENT OF BONUSES

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—To the accompaniment of cries from the floor of "We want beer! We want beer!" the American Legion today aligned itself with the forces seeking a change in the prohibition laws and asked congress to submit a referendum on the eighteenth amendment to the people of the various states.

At the same session the veterans' organization turned down a proposal that immediate full payment of bonus certificates be asked, and declared its belief that able bodied men should refrain at this time from placing added financial burdens on the government.

The prohibition resolution, favored by a vote of 1,008 to 394, was adopted after an uproarious debate of more than a half an hour. Cheers and antagonistic cries mingled with the shouts of "We want beer." No resolution proposing beer came before the convention, however.

Elect New Commander

So loud at times was the uproar that Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander, frequently beat upon the small reproduction of the Liberty Bell in an effort to obtain order, and the speakers had difficulty making themselves heard.

Just before final adjournment of the convention, Henry L. Stevens, Jr., young Warsaw, N. C., attorney, was elected national commander of the Legion by acclamation.

The discussion on prohibition was the first on the national convention floor in the Legion's history and was carried on under a ruling of Commander O'Neil that the issue is not a political one.

The majority report of the Legion's resolutions committee asking a referendum on prohibition was read to the convention by Dr. Neal D. Williams, of Missouri,

REFERENDUM TEXT

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—Here is the text of the prohibition referendum resolution adopted by the American Legion in its closing session today:

"Whereas, the eighteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States has created a condition endangering respect for law and the security of American institutions; therefore be it resolved that the American Legion in this thirteenth annual convention assembled favors the submission by congress of the repeal or modification of the present prohibition laws to the several states with a request that each state submit this question to the voters thereof.'

Urges Modification Of Anti-Trust Law

Washington, Sept. 24, (AP)—Modification of the anti-trust law to permit a speeding up of construction and elimination of what were termed building industry drawbacks was recommended to President Hoover today by Robert D. Kohn, on behalf of the construction league of the United States.

Kohn, who also is president of the American Institute of Architects, headed a delegation from the league, which is meeting in Washington, in a call at the White House.

He said the league was making every effort to speed up local work in an effort to give employment and also was studying the development of proper relations between elements in the building industry.

REED OPPOSES RATE INCREASE

Ex-Governor of Kansas Testifies for 27 Farm Groups

Washington, Sept. 24, (AP)—Former Governor Clyde M. Reed of Kansas told the interstate commerce commission today that an increase in freight rates on farm products would be "nothing short of an economic crime."

Testifying for 27 farm organizations, the Kansan said agriculture was without credit and farm operations were being conducted at a loss.

Speakers representing several western railroad commissions presented similar arguments and asked the commission to dismiss the railroads' plea for a 15 percent horizontal increase.

After quoting two economists to show that the railroad problem is one of reducing expenses, Reed said "the national transportation system is not threatened."

"It is the business of the country and especially the continued functioning of agriculture that is in danger," he said.

"If it be conceivable that under the circumstances the outcome of this proceeding should be the laying of an additional and an unjustified burden upon business in general and agriculture in particular, the repeal or modification of any legislation used as a pretext to this end would be clearly forecast."

Reed was referring the "fair return" section of the interstate commerce act under which the railroads have asked the increase. They claim the commission must grant higher rates when the carriers show they are not making a fair return on their investment.

McKellar Reopens Dispute On Tariff

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 24, (AP)—Reopening his tariff dispute with Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, Senator K. D. McKellar tonight asked the necessity for the issuance of "calamity bonds" at Grand Rapids "if the Hoover-Grundy-Smoot-Hawley tariff act is doing so much for Michigan?"

In a letter to Senator Vandenberg, the Tennessee Democrat inclosed a press clipping dealing with the recent issuance at Grand Rapids of $650,000 in "calamity bonds" for public construction under a Michigan court ruling that unemployment is a public calamity for which emergency loans may be made.

"It is almost inconceivable that after the passage of that tariff act, which had in your judgment done so much for the country, and especially for Michigan, that a city in your state would be issuing 'calamity' bonds for the aid of the unemployed," McKellar wrote.

"Republican rule and prosperity seem to have parted company even in Michigan."

Inventor Confesses To Bombing Cottage

Grand Haven, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP)—Nate Brown, 64, inventor and photographer, confessed tonight, according to police officers, that he bombed the summer cottage of Nicholas DeWitt at Pottawatomie resort near here.

The cottage was destroyed by dynamite early Monday morning, while unoccupied. Fred Mehrtens and M. McKenna, state fire marshals, Sergeant Guy Bauch of the state police and Undersheriff Marvin Den Herder obtained the confession. They annonuced that Brown said revenge was his motive. He believed he was defrauded by DeWitt in a real estate transaction.

Officers said Brown used 24 sticks of dynamite, tied to an eight-foot board and attached to 50 feet of fuse. They said he was careful to destroy the cottage while no one was in it.

Brown was arraigned before Justice C. E. Burr today on a charge of bombing and pleaded not guilty. Officers expected him to change his plea. He is held in default of $10,000 bail.

Brown obtained the first patent on an aerial camera. He also invented a motor sled and has obtained numerous other patents.

and our civilization. The wet propaganda for which the Legion has been used has so alienated thousands that they no longer attend the conventions.

"There was a marked absence of the sober, well behaved typical American. The other crowd is in power. That is why the headquarters over in Windsor was placed in the government liquor store. That is why such numbers of staggering drunks disgraced the uniform and yelled for beer."

Henry Hoes Found Guilty by Jury

A circuit court jury yesterday found Henry Hoes guilty of wilful and malicious injury to property not exceeding the sum of $25 in a verdict returned at eight o'clock last evening after four hours deliberation. Hoes was charged with smearing with tar the interior of a building in Schaffer owned by Mrs. Celina Derouin. Sentence will be passed on Hoes by Judge Bell later.

cal notes urging cessation of hostilties in Manchuria were sent tonight by Secretary Stimson to the Chinese and Japanese governments.

Both countries also were importuned to withdraw their forces and avoid acts which might interfere with attempts to settle the difference peaceably.

The notes said this government considers its intervention warranted by the desire of its people for world peace and by the fact that the United States is a party to several treaties for settling controversies without force.

They expressed the "regret and very great concern' of the American government and people at recent events in Manchuria.

Dr. Shelton Freed Of Church Charges

Alexandria, Va., Sept. 24, (AP)—The Rev. Dr. William A. Shelton late today was acquitted by a trial committee of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of charges involving his former secretary, Miss Carrie A. Williams.

Voted "absolutely innocent" of the accusations in a unanimous verdict by a jury of 13 clergymen, the 56-year-old preacher-scholar immediately was reinstated as pastor of the Mount Vernon Place church in Washington.

The charge, which had been withheld by church officials pending the outcome of the proceedings, was disclosed by Dr. W. S. Hammond of Martinsburg, W. Va., who officiated, as "immorality" and was based upon two specifications.

Hammond said the trial closed the matter as far as the Baltimore conference of the church was concerned.

Discuss Plans for Visit of Frenchman

Paris, Sept. 24, (AP)—Paul Claudel, French ambassador to the United States, called on American Ambassador Walter E. Edge today to discuss the possibilities of Premier Laval's projected visit to Washington.

The premier's reply to President Hoover's invitation will be handed to Ambassador Edge tomorrow. Earlier in the day the premier will submit the question to his cabinet colleagues at a meeting of the council of ministers, with every indication at his office pointing toward acceptance and the setting of mid-October as the time of sailing.

Premier Laval has been busy with preparations for his week end visit to Berlin, President Hoover's invitation and economic problems. It was said at the ministry of the interior that he would make an important statement to the French people before setting out for Berlin Saturday afternoon in order to prepare the atmosphere, much as Chancellor Bruening did before coming to Paris last July.

TWO MESS HALLS

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—The war department today authorized expenditures of $5,000 for construction of two training camp mess halls at Camp Custer, Mich.

FRIENDLY (?) DEED

Stockton, Cal. — Walter B. Grimes announced his intentions of getting married at his office. When the opportunity afforded, just before Grimes was to depart for Sacramento to pick up the "little woman," co-workers painted his car, from windshield to rear panel, with wise-cracks. Then they disconnected the car's gas line and ignition. Grimes may have been a little late at the church, but it was no fault of his.

FACES TRIAL FOR DROWNING WIFE

Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, whom a coroner's jury decided murdered his wife by drowning in Chesapeake Bay, is shown here leaving the Hampton, Va., jail for a bail hearing in circuit court. Kane, a professor of language at the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, is a descendant of one of Pennsylvania's oldest families.

Bees In Orchard Prove Successful

Wichita, Kas. (AP)—The practice of keeping bees in orchards, assisting in the pollination of apple blossoms while affording fine pasture for the bees, has been tried successfully in this region.

A beekeeper who loaned 40 hives to an orchadist for a fortnight made an average gain of five pounds of honey to the hive. Trees in the orchard have a heavy set of apples.

The scheme is common in the east, but has not been used extensively in the west.

SCHOOLS FOR SPAIN

Madrid—Spain has embarked on an extensive campaign for public education. The Republican government has taken steps to construct 27,000 public schools, 7000 of them to be completed within the year. Part of the funds for building the schools will come from money saved by cutting the Morrocan military budget.

GRIND GRATES ON HER

Milwaukee — Washing dishes, dusting and running errands proved too much for Josephine, 16. She gathered up watches, rings and other jewelry, threw them in the furnace, and then set fire to the house. When questioned by Judge Jennings, she said that she wasn't thinking at the time. The judge ordered a mental examination.

ASK CONGRESS TO AUTHORIZE POPULAR VOTE

committee chairman, amid wild cheering. A minority report asking that no action be taken on prohibition was presented by Lloyd Kain, of Lexington, Neb., and was met with a chorus of booes.

"We want beer," came the cry from the floor.

The prohibition resolution declares that the eighteenth amendment "has greeted a condition endangering respect for law and security of American institutions," and asks that congress submit to the states a proposal for repeal or modification "with the request that each state submit this question to the voters."

Cause of Gang Rule

Arguments in behalf of the referendum resolution asserted the development of gang rule and disrespect for the courts had followed the adoption of prohibition. Opponents argued that prohibition was not a matter with which the Legion should concern itself. They asked whether going into the controversial matter would not injure the Legion in its work in behalf of the disabled and in other legislative projects it is sponsoring.

Opening the debate on prohibition Norman C. McDonald, of Massachusetts, declared that "we have seen prohibition pass from a temperance issue to an issue of licenses, x x x The country has stood by and has seen the forces of evil take control of some of the largest cities of our nation. It has seen the fingers of evil stretched forth into our smaller communities. Across the length and breadth of the land there are minor Capones, who rule just as he rules, chief of gangs in Chicago. x x x The American Legion today holds in the minds and hearts of the American people a treasured place. We would not lose that place. x x x We hope to take the leadership in a great moral and ethical issue."

Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, who resigned as national judge advocate of the Legion to become a candidate for senator, asserted that "the great majority of us who have lived for 13 years in a reign of terror and lawlessness will prefer temperance to fanaticism, moderation to excess."

On the other side of the question, Douglas Hudson, of Kansas, declared that the resolution "recites a false premise, that the eighteenth amendment has caused these lamentable conditions which all of us know prevail."

Blames Prohibition

It is not the amendment but the "widespread violation of the amendment which has brought into our land this condition which does closely approximate anarchy in many places," he added. He expressed fear that the Legion's action would be misconstrued as a vote for beer and that "it will seem to many that we have substituted as the symbol of the American Legion a keg of beer."

Edward Neary, of New York, recalled that at the 1930 convention at Boston his state stood alone in behalf of a prohibition modification resolution which was ruled out of order.

"We realize that the cause of present conditions, such as the shooting down of children on the streets of our cities, is nothing but this so-called prohibition," he said.

He pleaded with the Legion to "indicate that you have courage on this subject. x x x I am frank to say that last year you did quibble. We hope that this year you will not quibble, that you will show you are real men of the Legion."

John J. Wicker, Jr., of Richmond, Va., speaking against a prohibition referendum, urged the convention to "resist the popular clamor and refuse to be swayed by outside influences who would turn us away from our real goal.'

Refusal to take a stand, he asserted, would be no evidence of "lack of moral courage" but rather a declaration that the Legion intends to "concentrate x x x our energies in behalf of our disabled, of our national defense and kindered matters x x x and that will not be drawn off into the morass and wilderness of partisan political controversy."

In the argument against the bonus payment proposal, Past Commander O. L. Bodenhamer and others told the convention that a demand at this time for full bonus payment might weaken the Legion's influence in carrying out the remainder of its program.

Reject Bonus Demand

The proponents of immediate payment called the bonus an obligation of the government and referred to other disbursements of federal money in connection with the war. A detailed argument of the financial side was made by Representative Wright Patman, of Texas.

In rejecting the bonus payment demand, 902 to 507, the Legion followed the advice given to it by President Hoover, who addressed the opening session; Brigadier-General Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, who also spoke before the gathering, and numerous Legion leaders, including Commander O'Neil, whose report indicated opposition to further demands on the federal treasury.

A resolution adopted unanimously by the convention requested that President Hoover revive the war-time machinery of the council of national defense to deal with the economic problems of the present. The resolution was sponsored by a Legion committee meeting by Howard Coffin, member of the war-time body.

BY HOLSAPLE

Detroit, Sept. 24 (AP)—Statements on the American Legion prohibition resolution were made tonight by L. L. Bredin, Michigan commander of the Crusaders, and R. N. Holsaple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league.

Bredin commended the action, while Holsaple criticised the conduct of Legion members during their convention and described the resolution they adopted as "meaningless."

NEARLY DID IT

Denver, Colo.—Leaving a note in his room to the effect that he was going to commit suicide, a Denver man walked off to a nearby vacant lot, pushed a revolver against his head and pulled the trigger. Police, rushing to find him, saw his body in the lot. When they arrived he sat up suddenly. He had fainted when the revolver he held against his head clicked on an empty chamber.

contended that the sentiment of the people of our country is over two to one against any further continuation of the preposterous experiment of national prohibition."

Senator Walsh of Montana, a constitutional authority, commented repeal or amendment of the Volstead act would be constitutional and would not constitute nullification of the 18th amendment.

The Democratic senator predicted beer legislation would be the subject of considerable agitation at the next session. He contended enactment by congress of a law authorizing the sale of beer would be unconstitutional and would constitute nullification, but mere repeal of the Volstead act, or amendment of it, to remove the penalties for sale of beer would not.

Senator Brookhart, Republican Iowa, said of the American Legion's action that "most of those who voted for the resolution came out of wet states," of Hyde's beer investigation, Brookhart added:

"I have no objection to that. He won't find much. Beer won't help the farmer in any material way and will reduce the buying power of his customers."

Senator Bulkley, Democratic anti-prohibitionist from Iowa, informed of the Legion move, said:

"I am delighted. I am so glad they voted on that instead of beer."

The prohibition bureau disclosed it already had collected considerable data on the legal beer trade as it affected the farmer. A brochure bearing the seal of the department of justice reported that in 1915 and 1916 distillers and brewers used 32 per cent of the annual malt crop.

"Of the total wheat and oat crop produced in the United States in 1914, while brewing and distilling were at their height," it said, "less than one per cent was used by the brewers and distillers."

"The exact figures show," it added, "that out of a production of 700,000,000 bushels of wheat and about 1,150,000,000 bushels of oats, only about 2,000,000 bushels were used in the actual production of alcholic beverages."

Vines Fights Way To Semi-Finals

Los Angeles, Sept. 24 (AP)—Playing in form true to his numerous titles, Ellsworth Vines, 19-year-old University of Southern California sophomore, won his way with three other favorites into the semi-finals of the Pacific southwest men's singles championship here today.

The national singles champion and title defender defeated Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

George Lott defeated Lester Stoefen, 6-2, 7-5. Keith Gledhill lost to Fred Perry, English Davis cup player, 9-7, 6-3.

It was up to Perry to keep the name of Britain in the tournament, for his partner, George Hughes, was unable to cope with the surprisingly treacherous service of John Van Ryn, Los Angeles, listed No. 3, and was conquered in the easiest fashion of the round, 6-2, 6-2.

Van Ryn will be called upon to test his game against the champion's best strokes on tomorrow, meeting Vines in the semi-finals, while Perry clashes with Lott.

Ed Erickson Sr., Retired Merchant, Is 78 Tomorrow

Selkirk Photo

Tomorrow will mark the 78th birthday anniversary of Edward Erickson, Sr., 201 South Fifth street, pioneer Escanaba merchant, who retired from business in the spring of 1928, selling his dry goods store, one of the largest in the upper peninsula, to Lauerman Brothers of Marinette.

Mr. Erickson was born September 26, 1853 in Manitowoc, Wis., the son of Holbar and Sophia Erickson, both of whom were born in Norway. His parents migrated to this country in 1852 and located in Wisconsin.

Edward Erickson attended the public schools in Manitowoc and worked in sawmills at that place, later going to Sparta, Wis., where he gained his first experience as a store clerk.

He remained in Sparta until 1874 when he came to Escanaba to enter the employ of the late Louis Schram and later the Greenhoot Brothers, work that occupied his time until 1877. In that year he formed a partnership with P. N. Cardago and in 1879 went into business for himself.

Starting on a small scale Mr. Erickson applied himself to the conduct of his business with unremitting energy and developed one of the largest dry goods concerns in the Upper Peninsula, holding a high place as one of the commercial leaders in this city.

Hhe always takes active interest in all civic affairs of the community and has served as a member of the board of public works.

Big Spring Jobbers Starting to Ship

Cooks, Mich., Sept. 24. (Special)—Frounter and Joneau, lumbermen of Big Springs have started shipping their woods products by car load lots from Delta Junction where the stuff has been hauled direct from the woods. During the past three years, there has been quite a little village not far from the springs. During the greater part of this time, between twenty and thirty men have been employed in the varied activities of lumbering.

The present shipment consists of 27,000 posts and 1600 cedar telephone poles, the property of the National Pole Co., of Duluth. About 600,000 feet of lumber, mostly pine, a large quantity of ties and other products still remain, awaiting a better market than at present exists. This company is operating over a wide area, comprising many forties. The longest haul from the woods to the shipping point is about seven miles. One tractor and several trucks are in operation when the work is in full swing. The area being cut is a part of the Ruggles estate and is expected to furnish profitable employment for a substantial number of local men for several years to come. This is believed to be the largest local lumbering enterprise since the days of Conners and Mc Cafferty, who ceased operations here thirteen or fourteen years ago.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

Marion Shilling, who won a long term contract with RKO Pathe as the result of her work opposite Lew Cody in "Beyond Victory," is playing the second lead in Constance Bennett's new starring vehicle, "The Common Law."

The daughter of a theatrical producer, Miss Shilling grew up with the stage but gave no thought to a screen career until she was asked to make a test. One of her first screen opportunities was the feminine lead opposite William Powell in "Shadow of the Law."

"The Common Law" will continue its run at the Delft Theatre today. Others in Miss Bennett's supporting cast are Lew Cody, Robert Williams, Hedda Hopper, Marion Shilling, and Paul Ellis.

This picture is adapted from the long popular novel by Robert W. Chambers. It is a very modern version of the story, however, arranged for the screen by John Farrow.

Paul L. Stein who made "Born To Love," starring Miss Bennett, directed her again in "The Common Law."

A POTATO QUEEN

PROPERLY exploited, the stunt to select a "potato queen" at the Upper Peninsula Potato Show in Marquette October 20 will give valuable publicity to the spud growing industry of this region.

This choosing of "queens" is no new idea, of course, but it never fails to obtain the desired results. Lower Michigan interests, such as the cherry, tulip and peach growers, have taken advantage of this splendid publicity idea to the utmost, and as a result pictures of the pretty girls of their respective territories appear in newspapers throughout the country. Governors and other dignitaries come to crown these queens and hundreds of people join in the festivities, which incidentally help to advertise the products that are offered to the market.

The "potato queen" event will do much toward establishing the upper peninsula within the public mind as an outstanding potato growing region. And there will be no misrepresentation in that regard, however, for this north country is ideal from the standpoint of climatic and soil conditions for the raising of tubers. This fact is demonstrated by the wonderful showing that our farmers make every year in competition with growers of the rest of the state. And their Superior Brand potatoes are not to be excelled in quality anywhere.

THEY STAND JUSTIFIED

ONE thing the departure from the gold standard in Great Britain makes clear. It is the imperative nature of the circumstances that led Premier MacDonald to undertake the organization of the national cabinet. As gold had to be abandoned despite the prompt effort by the government to balance the burget, there is small doubt that only that effort, and the evidence given by the national government of a purpose to meet the country's problems realistically, prevented the consequences of so drastic a step from being disastrously bad. Knowledge that the budget is balanced and that the country has been put in the way of stable finance serves greatly to mitigate the disturbing results of the abandonment of gold as a money standard.

For the moment, at least, the cabinet is really a national cabinet. The Labor opposition is throwing no difficulty in the way of carrying out its measures. It is, no doubt, somewhat chastened by the evidence the stern logic of events has given that MacDonald and Snowden correctly appraised the situation, and that the action they took turned out to the great advantage of the nation.

As MacDonald said in addressing parliament, while the gold standard has for the time been given up it is given up with the budget balanced and with the country's financial house finally in order. The results are far different and far happier, bad though they may be, from what would have ensued had abandonment of the gold standard been forced by uncomfortable circumstances at a time when there was a discrepancy of some $600,000,000 between the government's revenue and the government's expenditure.

MacDonald and Snowden appear to have been justified much earlier than there was reason for expecting they would be.—Iron Mountain News.

CLASH OF ATTITUDES

GERARD SWOPE'S recent proposal for an elaborate industrial plan to avert depression has brought into the open an important conflict between two attitudes toward modern life—a conflict of which we are going to hear a great deal in the coming decade.

Swope presented a complicated scheme for the guidance of national economics. Owen D. Young, following him, summed up the issue succinctly by remarking:

"The question is whether the people who are calling for economic planning really mean what they say. Are they willing to surrender their individual freedom to the extent necessary to execute a plan?"

It is no exaggeration to say that that draws the line along which a tremendous battle of words is going to be fought in the near future.

In the past the people of the United States have clung tenaciously to the old ideal of individual independence. The right of the worked to choose his own employment, the right of the business man to run his business as he saw fit, the duty of government to keep its hands off of the machinery—these have been cardinal points in our creed.

It is only recently that this creed has been seriously questioned. The "laissez faire" school of economics had almost a unanimous majority until hard times came. Now, however, we are hearing demands for five-year plans, for comprehensive schemes like Swope's, for concerted action that will smooth out the rought places.

Whether or not any of these plans will finally be adopted is beside the point. The thing that needs to be recognized now is that adoption of any of them will mean that we shall be obliged to give up some of our old freedom.

We can't have it both ways. We can go along in the old course if we prefer, guided by the traditional notions about individual initiative and liberty—but, when hard times come, things will have to be allowed to work themselves out. Or we can put elaborate plans into operation to minimize the industrial cycle and insure a steady income for all hands—but, if we do, we shall have to modify our old ideas about individual freedom very materially.

The conflict between these two attitudes will become rather important during the next few years. We might as well start thinking about it right now.

A professor said jail was torture. Now, there's a novel deduction.

A husband's pay envelope may cramp a woman's style, but if it doesn't, her style will cramp him.

What with England's dropping the gold standard, it won't make much difference whether or not thar's gold in them thar hills.

PEACE NOTE REPLY

On Sept. 25, 1917, Dr. Von Seydler, the Austrian premier, gave his opinion on the peace proposals of Pope Benedict. Von Seydler said in part:

"Our readiness to arrive at an agreement with our enemies . . . is absolutely serious and sincere and is inspired by the consciousness of our strength. But if our enemies are not prepared to take the proffered hand we will continue our defensive war to the utmost.

"Believing that a strong Austria, insuring contentment of all races, is the best guarantee of a lasting peace, we are striving to reform the constitution, and the government resolutely condemns the mistaken view held by certain parties that Austria's salvation is to be hoped for from Austria's enemies."

On this day in the World War, Germany and France each lost a famed aviator when Captain Guynemer, French airman and Lieutenant Vosse, German, were killed in battle.

CHAPTER XXXII

CHRIS SAUNDERS twisted the ring on her finger. It was an oddly engraved band set with jade. Chris always wore the ring. She had worn it ever since Norma had known her.

When she looked up all Chris said was, "Well—?"

"He—he didn't say anything." Norma went on hurriedly. "Oh, it was terrible that first night when I knew he recognized me! I tried to tell Mark—I'd tried to tell him before but he wouldn't let me! Mark knows him, Chris. He and Stone are some sort of cousins. Mark didn't guess that I'd ever seen him before though!"

The other girl straightened. Her eyes, meeting Norma's quite levelly, were a mask.

"Listen," Chris said, "you've done nothing to be ashamed of. If I were you I'd save my worrying until I had something to worry about. Something real! Don't lose your head, Norma. Tell me what you expect to do during the next four weeks?"

"I haven't thought it all out. I'll have to get a job somewhere I suppose. The money I have won't last. Anyhow I'd rather be doing something—"

Again Chris was absorbed in the ring. "I understand why you ran away last night," she said slowly, "but it might have been better if you'd stayed."

"Oh, I couldn't! Do you think I'd accept anything from people when I know they hate me? I just couldn't do it, Chris. Mark wouldn't want me to stay there if he knew. I made up my mind before he left that I wouldn't stay in that house. I couldn't tell him because he was counting on the trip so. If he'd known how I felt about it he wouldn't have gone. I wasn't willing to stand in Mark's way!"

"But don't you see, dear, running away like this is going to make trouble?"

Norma's chin lifted but her lips trembled. "I thought you'd be willing to help me, Chris," she said. "I didn't know you'd feel this way about it!"

"See here, infant, of course I want to help you! I'm just trying to think what's the best thing to do, that's all."

"I won't go back to Mark's father's home. I tell you I won't!"

CHRIS sighed. "Well," she said, "that settles that! As I said, I don't blame you much. If you won't go back I think you'd better go to work. Why didn't you come to my place last night instead of going to that rooming place?"

"You know you've no room now, Dorothy's with you."

"Always have room. We can double up."

"No. I don't want you to do that. You see things are different now, Chris. I've got to stand on my own feet. It helps to tell you about things, to talk them over and feel there's one person who understands. Oh, I don't know what I'd do without you! But I'm not going to be one more to impose on your generosity—"

"Silly! Why, that's ridiculous!"

"Maybe. Anyway, that's how I feel about it. This place I've moved to is all right. I'll want to see you often, Chris, but I've paid the rent for a week and I think I'll stay there."

"Suit yourself. I suppose you'll come to dinner some time?"

"Love to. Tell me about Dorothy. What's she like?"

"Oh, Dorothy's all right. We don't pal around the way you and I did but she's o. k. as a roommate. Say—" Chris' dark eyes flashed with a sudden inspiration. "Why didn't I think of it? Why didn't I think—!"

"Think of what? What are you talking about?"

"A job for you! Don't know what it pays but it would be a lot better than nothing. Dorothy was telling me about it last night. A girl she knows who works for a literary agent on the same floor we're on is going to quit Saturday. Getting married. I don't even remember the girl's name, though I met her once. Lucille something-or-other. She was going to tell her boss about it today. It's ten to one they haven't hired anyone else yet."

"What's a literary agent? What kind of a job is it?"

"Oh, the job wouldn't be hard. Just regular secretarial work. Stuart is the man's name. Frederick Stuart. People who write articles for magazines and stories send them to him. He finds someone to buy them. Dorothy says he's one of the best in the city."

"Do you think he'd hire me?"

"Why not? You're a good secretary. Here—I tell you what I'll do! I'll get Dorothy to go in and see this girl in the morning and if nobody's taken the job I'll call you to come right down. How's that?"

"Fine. Say, that'll be great, Chris! I couldn't very well go to Brooks and Welliver and ask for a recommendation when I left them the way I did—"

"We'll get Lucille to recommend you personally. She'd do that for Dorothy, I'm sure."

Ten minutes later they left the restaurant. Each boarded a different street car. Chris urged Norma to spend the evening with her but the younger girl made excuses.

IT was nearly eight o'colck when Norma unlocked the door of her newly rented room. The first flash of the electric light was startling. Everything looked strange and different. Shabby in the glow of yellow lamp light. She closed the door behind her and took off her hat.

Across the room, tacked to the faded wallpaper, Norma saw a calendar. She had not noticed it earlier in the day. The calendar bore the name of a coal company printed in large lettering and beneath this the head of a flirtatious young woman dressed in red. The calendar had evidently been added to the room as a decoration. No one had bothered to remove the November sheet from the pad.

Swiftly Norma crossed the room and tore off the ante-dated leaf. Yesterday had been the second of December. She counted down four weeks. That brought her to the 30th. Four weeks—but it might be five! Painstakingly Norma drew a circle about the numeral 30. It occurred to her for the first time that Mark would be away on Christmas.

For a long time she sat and stared at the calendar. Then she arose, drew a large cross over the day that had just ended. There would be 27 more crosses to draw before she could hope to see Mark again. Twenty-seven more crosses!

From childhood and Sunday school Norma remembered a hymn about crosses. No, she told herself vehemently, it was not sacrilegious to think of such things! Every day away from Mark, every 24 hours represented by a cross upon her calendar, was a literal cross to be borne on her shoulders.

Oh, what good could telling herself to be brave do? What good could anything do?

Norma was 20 years old. She was very much in love, desperately unhappy and lonesome. So, as might have been expected of any young girl in a similar situation, she cried herself to sleep.

Morning when it came was gray and dreary. A sunless December day threatening snow which did not fall. Norma did not go out for breakfast. She dallied through the routine of dressing, made her bed and rearranged a bureau drawer.

At 9:45 she was summoned to the telephone. Chris' voice at the other end of the wire said brightly, "Everything's arranged. You're to come down as soon as you can and Dorothy'll take you to Mr. Stuart's office. How soon can you make it?"

"Half an hour, I guess. I'll start right away."

"Then step on it! The job's as good as yours now!"

Chris was a dear. For her sake Norma tried to seem more enthusiastic than she felt riding downtown on the street car, later meeting the unknown Dorothy and being led by her to the unknown Frederick Stuart's office.

Half-way down the corridor Dorothy stopped. "Wait a minute!" she said abruptly. "You're not feeling so high this morning, are you? Need a little rouge. Here—let's see what we can do--"

They went into the wash room. From her own vanity case Dorothy produced rouge and a pinkish pad with which to apply it. Five minutes of artful ministrations and Norma emerged, the color in her cheeks notably brightening her appearance.

"It isn't too much," the other girl assured her. "The whole building has artificial light today."

THE lettering on the frosted glass before them read, "Frederick J. Stuart, Author's Representative." Dorothy opened the door and they entered.

A slim girl, taller than Norma, with ash blond hair, arose to meet them. "Hello," she smiled at Dorothy. "And this is Miss Fenway, Miss Travers. She's come to see about the job."

"Of course. Mr. Stuart's in now. Shall I ask him if he can see you? I know it will be all right."

Norma said she would like the interview at once. The slim girl disappeared. She returned and with a nod invited Norma to enter her employer's office.

Norma passed through the door marked "private." The man at the desk looked up. "Miss Travers?" he asked.

"Yes, sir. I understand you need a secretary and I've come to apply for the position."

Stuart straightened back. He was a dark man and he wore large, dark-rimmed spectacles. The hair over his temples was rather thin. He looked, Norma thought, exactly like any businessman and this was something of a surprise. Dimly she had envisaged a literary agent as a sort of poetic creature with wavy hair, Windsor tie and affected, slouching garments. Frederick J. Stuart looked essentially practical.

"Sit down, Miss Travers," he said. "Miss Fenway tells me you've had considerable experience. Take dictation, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir. Most of my experience has been in a law office. I've had practice taking letters in shorthand and also on the dictaphone."

"I see. Well, let's have a try at it. Ask Miss Fenway for a notebook—"

Norma went for the notebook. For half an hour she took dictation at high speed and afterward transcribed the notes. Her fingers seemed clumsy as she hit the typewriter keys but her shorthand was accurate. It took longer to write the letters than it should have but when finished they were perfect.

Stuart studied the letters carefully. He chewed the end of a cigar that was not lighted. Presently he broke the silence.

"Report for work Monday morning, please, Miss Travers. Nine o'clock."

Norma hesitated. "About the salary—" she began.

"Yes, yes. Of course. Twenty-five dollars."

"I was earning $30 on my last job."

"Well, we'll make it $27.50. Raise you after the first of the year if your work's satisfactory. Right?"

In a building six blocks away F. M. Travers shifted to a more comfortable position in his comfortable desk chair. He was holding the French telephone to his ear.

"What's that?" Travers exclaimed. "You've found the girl? Yes, of course I want to go through with it. Take a cab and come over here right away!"

LYRICS OF LIFE

THEIR HOBBY

You can't make me believe that men
Forget their women now and then,
That woman, when her man's away,
Forgets him ere the end of day.
For I have met them far from home,
Met other husbands doomed to roam,
Or, ere some tardy one arrives,
Have sat and talked with husbands' wives.

What were her thoughts? I soon found out.
'Twas he she longed to talk about,
His likes, his sayings, and his cares,
His food, the colors that he wears,
Or, when I chanced with him to chat,
"My wife says this," "My wife thinks that."
A little grace he might have shown—
I have some home ties of my own.

So, wife, if you are wondering
Just where he is, or anything,
Or, husband, if you'd like to know
If all the things she writes are so,
Or, wife of mine, you wonder, too,
If I remember, mention, you
At smoker or at dinner-dance,
I do, if I can get the chance.

'Looking Backward'

September 25, 1911

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stitt of Gladstone will move to Thief River Falls, Minn., next week to make their future home. Mrs. Stitt was formerly Miss Emma Bacon of Escanaba.

Edwin Linden and Harold Smith left yesterday in a motor boat to spend a week along the shores of the bay.

A number of prominent men of Escanaba were yesterday engaged in locating ground for a golf course near Wells and if a suitable course can be found steps will be taken to organize a golf club here and construct a club house near the scene of the course. Those interested inspected, what they thought would be an ideal location for a golf course on the east bank of the Escanaba River a short distance above Wells. At that place a considerable clearing is offered and being on the bank of the river would be easily available. At present, to reach the course it is necessary to cross the river at Groos and follow an old road down to the east shore. If the site is selected a new road will be cut to the clearing from the county road leading to the Chemical Plant immediately after crossing the bridge over the Escanaba River.

After serving for four years in the U. S. Navy, and retiring at the end of his term of service as master machinist in charge of the engines and all machine equipment of the U. S. S. Lawrence, William J. Hatton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hatton, Ogden avenue, has returned to his home here.

COW TESTING COSTS LOWER

Now Every Farmer Can Afford It in Menominee County

BY B. D. KUHN,
County Agricultural Agent

Menominee, Mich.—At a recent meeting of the Menominee Cow Testing Association, new plans of testing were adopted that reduce the cost of testing to a point where every farmer in the county can afford to test.

Under the new plan of testing the cost is cut in half, making it financially possible for every dairyman in Menominee county to test. Below is listed three plans of testing and the cost of each as approved by the Cow Testing Association:

TESTING RATES

Plan No. 1—Once a Month

6 cows	$36.00 a year
9 cows	39.00 a year
12 cows	42.00 a year
15 cows	45.00 a year
18 cows	48.00 a year
21 cows	51.00 a year
24 cows	54.00 a year
27 cows	57.00 a year
30 cows	60.00 a year
33 cows	63.00 a year
36 cows	66.00 a year

Plan No. 2—Once Every 2 Months

6 cows	$18.00 a year
9 cows	19.50 a year
12 cows	21.00 a year
15 cows	22.50 a year
18 cows	24.00 a year
21 cows	25.50 a year
24 cows	27.00 a year
27 cows	28.50 a year
30 cows	30.00 a year
33 cows	31.50 a year
36 cows	33.00 a year

Plan No. 3—Mail Order

6 cows	$ 9.00 a year
9 cows	12.00 a year
12 cows	15.00 a year
15 cows	18.00 a year
18 cows	21.00 a year
21 cows	23.00 a year
24 cows	27.00 a year
27 cows	30.00 a year
30 cows	33.00 a year
33 cows	36.00 a year
36 cows	39.00 a year

While it is generally agreed that testing once every month is better than testing once every two months, because the person testing oftener has the advantage of advice from the tester twice as often, yet the testing once every two months gives a sufficiently accurate record of the performance of each cow in the herd, so that unprofitable cows can be removed, and it will provide a guide so that the cows may be fed according to production.

Testing is recognized by dairy authorities everywhere as being the first step towards successful dairy farming, as it is necessary before one can cull out low producers, it is necessary for good feeding, and it is also necessary for a basis for good breeding work.

All farmers interested in any of these plans of testing should get in touch with the agricultural agent as soon as possible.

Cull Your Cows Now

The pasture season is about over, and with the passing of this method of cheap feeding, comes the necessity of weeding out of the herd all cows that will not produce a profit during the winter on barn feeding.

Many farmers are keeping poor producing cows, because the price of meat is low, and they wish to keep these cows until the price of meat improves. There is no prospect of any marked increase in price of this class of meat animal, and so every cow kept that is poor, will eat her owner farther in debt every day that she is kept.

It is possible to cull a number of poor cows out of a herd and still make as much, and sometimes more money from them, because the feed that the poor cows would get can be used in feeding the good ones liberally.

Dig Potatoes Now

Prof. H. C. Moore of Michigan State College was in the county Tuesday, September 22, and visited the farms of a number of potato growers, and it was his advice that farmers start digging potatoes immediately.

Mr. Moore said that at this time of the year the danger of field frost was always present, and that field frosted potatoes from Michigan last year caused Michigan potatoes to sell poorly on the market.

Also recent rains has started new growth of tubers, and this growth will cause ill shaped, and in many cases hollow hearted potatoes, which would decrease the quality of the crop and cause buyers to discriminate against potatoes from Michigan.

In many fields thruout the county the vines are still green, and farmers do not wish to start digging because of the difficulty of separating the potatoes from the vines. This can be overcome by spraying a solution of blue vitrol on the vines at the rate of 15-20 pounds of blue vitrol to 100 gallons of water, or to use common salt in place of the blue vitrol.

The St. Johns river in Florida is the only river wholly within the United States that flows north.

An eminent scientist writes the head chemist in our Research Department:

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink"

THE WATER YOU DRINK is tested from time to time by expert chemists to make sure that it is free from all injurious substances—that it is pure.

So it is in the manufacture of CHESTERFIELD cigarettes. Expert chemists test all the materials that are used in any way in CHESTERFIELD's manufacture, to make sure that everything that goes into CHESTERFIELD is just right.

THE LEAF TOBACCO IS PURE. Long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—scientifically "dry" and clean and purify the natural tobacco leaves by exact high-temperature treatment.

Then the shreds of cut tobacco, as you see them in your CHESTERFIELD, are again heated, cleaned and purified. From these pure tobaccos the cigarettes are made, and only the purest paper—the best that can be made—is used for CHESTERFIELD.

Cigarettes used to be made in an old-fashioned way, by hand. Now, no hand but yours touches CHESTERFIELD—another purity safeguard.

CHESTERFIELDS are made and packed in clean, sanitary factories where even the air is changed every four and one-half minutes—purity again.

ALL THIS CARE is taken to give you CHESTERFIELDS as nearly perfect as cigarettes can be made. Delivered in a moisture-proof, sealed package, they reach you just as good, just as pure as when they leave the factory. Good . . . they've got to be good—they're just as pure as the water you drink!

Sewing Classes In Menominee County Open

The reason why some sleeves twist on the arm or tear out at the back, why some dresses slide down at the back when a person is walking about, and many others of like nature will be some of the problems to solve when women in Banat community of Menominee County take up the second year in clothing construction.

Every woman during the course will make a "muslin model"—a dress from inexpensive muslin upon which any needed alterations are made and which is used as a pattern.

A simple house dress will be made in class, thus giving chance for criticism and attention to fit, design and finishes. Through this work women find out how to solve their fitting problems and thus may use this knowledge in remodeling clothes for themselves or other members of the family or in buying garments.

It is expected that women in the vicinity of Banat will be interested in joining the class this year, which will hold the first meeting on Wednesday, September 30, at the Banat town hall.

This work, which is part of the Home Economics Extension program of the Michigan State College, is open to all rural women who are interested.

Home Furnishing

The opportunity to join a class for the study of a household problem of interest to every wide awake woman is also being offered thru the Home Economics Extension work.

Meetings are held five or six times during the year from October to May. Every woman that can possibly join should do so, because this course of training offers the very latest information on Home Economics that is of interest to every home maker, and it is a social time too, and is the rural woman's club.

The first meeting will be held in the Ingalls community on Tuesday, September 29, Wallace Thursday, October 1st, and Palestine, October 2nd. The subject of the first lesson is selection of upholstery materials. The selection of officers and enrolling of members will also take place.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual understanding unfolds Mind, Life, Truth, and Love, and demonstrates the divine sense, giving the spiritual proof of the universe in Christian Science." Do Extra Canning to Help Poor This Winter

CAN THAT SURPLUS!

The wise old weather prophets say that the winter of 1931-32 will be a severe one. They judge and abide by the old adage, "A bountiful fruit season is a long, hard winter ahead."

Nature provides for the beasts and birds and they have already been hording their food supply for the winter which will be here almost before we know it.

"Can the Surplus' is the motto that should rule every housewife's kitchen at this season of the year when fruit and vegetables are so plentiful and the prices at rock bottom.

The "Can the Surplus" campaign which is attaining nationwide popularity can be accomplished in this section of the state where the harvests are good and the fruit crop unparalleled in many years.

Housewives, chefs in hotels and in other large establishments are canning and preserving in large quantities this year; hospitals, and many other places that house a large number of people are preparing for the winter and what one can purchase for a small amount today can be turned into profitable dollars in a few months.

Favorite Recipe

Betty Ann

Mrs. John V. Fredrickson, who finished her small cucumber pickles a few days ago, and who just finished a delicious ripe tomato pickle which requires no cooking, is giving her recipes for both to Betty Ann readers:

Small Cucumber Pickles

Select cucumbers about three or three and one-half inches long. Wash in cold water.

Into two quart glass jar put four tablespoons dry mustard, four tablespoons salt, four tablespoons sugar, one teacup vinegar. Shake well to dissolve. Fill jar with cucumbers, packing them down well. Cover with cold vinegar, filling jar, and seal as for canned fruit. Let stand top side down until contents are well mixed, possibly for two or three days.

Celery seed, or mustard seed or dill may be added if desired. Celery seed gives the pickles a fine flavor.

Mrs. John V. Fredrickson
713 South Fifteenth street.

Ripe Tomato Pickles

Two quarts peeled and chopped tomatoes.
One-fourth cup chopped celery.
Four tablespoons chopped red pepper.
Four tablespoons chopped onion.
Four tablespoons salt.
Six tablespoons sugar.
Six tablespoons mustard seed.
One-half teaspoon ground cloves.
One-half teaspoon ground cinnamon.
One teaspoon grated nutmeg.
One and three-fourths cups vinegar.

Mix in the order given and put in glass jars.

Mrs. John V. Fredrickson,

Mrs. Elsie McGee's recipe for green tomato pickles is being repeated in this morning's department in answer to the request of a Manistique reader who clipped the recipe but lost it, and who has written, asking that it be reprinted.

Green Tomato Pickles

One peck green tomatoes.
Twelve medium sized onions.
Two cauliflowers.
Three green peppers.
One bunch celery.
Three-fourths cup salt.
Two quarts vinegar.
Two pounds sugar.
Two-thirds cup whole spices.

Wash and slice tomatoes, peel onions and slice them, break cauliflower into small pieces, remove seeds of peppers and chop fine, and wash and dice celery. Place in a large preserving kettle in layers, sprinkling all with salt. Let stand over night. In the morning drain, add one quart vinegar and two quarts of water. Bring to a boil and cook fifteen minutes. Drain. Make syrup by boiling for fifteen minutes the other quart of vinegar, sugar and spices in a small bag. Add pickles. Bring to a boil and seal while hot.

Pinecrest Sanitorium Has Best Record For Operating at Low Cost

Pinecrest sanatorium at Powers, in whose expense of maintenance Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties share equally, has been operated at the lowest net cost per day, exclusive of field work, of any of the 12 Michigan institutions for which statistics are published.

The data were compiled for use in "Michigan Out-of-Doors," and cover the period from the opening of each institution to January 1, this year.

Pinecrest sanatorium, established in 1922, has been operated since that time at a net cost per day of $.806, exclusive of field work, and with the Copper Country sanatorium, at Houghton, second in the list at $.942 per day.

The other 10 institutions, sanatoria operated by counties at public expense, are the Calhoun county hospital, Battle Creek; Grand View, Ironwood; Ingham county, at Lansing; Jackson county, at Jackson; Fairmount, at Kalamazoo; Morgan Heights, at Marquette; Muskegon county, at Muskegon; Oakland county, at Pontiac; Herman Kieffer sanatorium, at Detroit, and the William H. NICE SLEUTHING

Milwaukee — Virgil Ilgenfutz was caught in the plumbing shop of Frank Ffannensteil after $1 had been stolen. Ilgenfutz explained that he was in there to look for a pencil and paper to write a telegram. Policeman Smukowski thought that it was a funny place to go to write a telegram, so he looked at Virgil. On his nose was plainly imprinted the mark of a screen. The officer took that mark as evidence that Virgil was looking into the shop to see if the coast was clear and arrested him.

How Other Cities Feed the Jobless

BAY CITY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the Fourth of a series of articles outlining the unemployment relief movements in Michigan cities. How Kalamazoo aids the jobless will be told tomorrow).

BY SAM B. McCOOL

Bay City, Sept. 24. (AP)—Bay City and its immediate territory are seeking a new system of welfare relief looking toward the abandonment of the dole plan.

With county finances providing the bulk of the funds for the present system, public leaders are casting about for a new plan that has been used successfully in such places as Grand Rapids, Saginaw and Lansing. That plan does away with the dole and provides jobs for the needy.

Since the first of the year approximately $200,000 has been spent from the county poor fund and some $30,000 by the city social service department in direct welfare relief. The county's cost per indigent has mounted during the first six months of this year to $2.86 a month.

The dual system of relief in this community and the surrounding territory has brought a double public burden. County funds are raised by taxation while the money used by city agencies has been raised largely through subscriptions.

County funds are administered by the poor commission, two superintendents being in Bay City and the other in Essexville. Township supervisors care for the needy in the rural districts. The civic league, social service and nursing service are normal municipal agencies in the relief work of this community. In 1930, an emergency relief committee was also established which has rendered its greatest service in investigational work.

Funds of the civic league are derived from private donations, police court fines, and voluntary contributions by city employes from their salaries. The latter gave one-half day's pay each month last winter.

For the year ending Sept. 30, 1930, county poor fund expenditures amounted to $59,846 while the city's charity fund administered largely by the civic league expended $90,000, for the year ending July 1, 1930. Emergency and city employes' funds during the winter of 1930 and 1931 approximated $8,000.

Chicago still has 10 horseshoeing establishments, but only one has enough business to keep two employes.

Turtle Eggs Are Found Near Cooks

Cooks, Mich., Sept. 24. (Special)—While working on the right of way on the Soo Line near Tighes Lake, a mile from town, several weeks ago, Frank Silkworth found seven or eight mud turtle eggs which had been deposited there by turtles from the lake for incubation. They were about the size of bantam eggs and were given to little Freddie Miner, son of the section foreman. He placed them in the sand near his home and awaited results. In two or three weeks afterwards, they hatched out and while Fred was careful to keep in touch with developments, the turtles beat him to it for one day when he went, he found that all had hatched out, but only one little fellow remained. The others had all disappeared, presumably to their habitat at the nearest lake or mud puddle. The one remaining turtle, which is now over a month old, was brought home and adopted as a pet. His meals consist of bread crumbs and insects. He has a little can for a home and has proved to be a real pet, admired by many besides his owner. Occasionally, he is turned at large but is closely watched because of his repeated efforts to follow his brothers and sisters to the place where instinct impels them. When trying to escape he travels with surprising rapidity. At present he is quite tiny and could easily repose on a half dollar, possibly on a quarter but Freddie believes that there is lots of opportunity for him to grow to the size of his big brothers which sometimes measure nearly a foot in diameter.

Baby trout, like human infants, thrive on milk and orange juice.

Salt beds covering an area of 40 square miles have been found in Nova Scotia.

Sewing Classes In Menominee County Open

The reason why some sleeves twist on the arm or tear out at the back, why some dresses slide down at the back when a person is walking about, and many others of like nature will be some of the problems to solve when women in Banat community of Menominee County take up the second year in clothing construction.

Every woman during the course will make a "muslin model"—a dress from inexpensive muslin upon which any needed alterations are made and which is used as a pattern.

A simple house dress will be made in class, thus giving chance for criticism and attention to fit, design and finishes. Through this work women find out how to solve their fitting problems and thus may use this knowledge in remodeling clothes for themselves or other members of the family or in buying garments.

It is expected that women in the vicinity of Banat will be interested in joining the class this year, which will hold the first meeting on Wednesday, September 30, at the Banat town hall.

This work, which is part of the Home Economics Extension program of the Michigan State College, is open to all rural women who are interested.

Home Furnishing

The opportunity to join a class for the study of a household problem of interest to every wide awake woman is also being offered thru the Home Economics Extension work.

Meetings are held five or six times during the year from October to May. Every woman that can possibly join should do so, because this course of training offers the very latest information on Home Economics that is of interest to every home maker, and it is a social time too, and is the rural woman's club.

The first meeting will be held in the Ingalls community on Tuesday, September 29, Wallace Thursday, October 1st, and Palestine, October 2nd. The subject of the first lesson is selection of upholstery materials. The selection of officers and enrolling of members will also take place.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual understanding unfolds Mind, Life, Truth, and Love, and demonstrates the divine sense, giving the spiritual proof of the universe in Christian Science." Do Extra Canning to Help Poor This Winter

CAN THAT SURPLUS!

The wise old weather prophets say that the winter of 1931-32 will be a severe one. They judge and abide by the old adage, "A bountiful fruit season is a long, hard winter ahead."

Nature provides for the beasts and birds and they have already been hording their food supply for the winter which will be here almost before we know it.

"Can the Surplus' is the motto that should rule every housewife's kitchen at this season of the year when fruit and vegetables are so plentiful and the prices at rock bottom.

The "Can the Surplus" campaign which is attaining nationwide popularity can be accomplished in this section of the state where the harvests are good and the fruit crop unparalleled in many years.

Housewives, chefs in hotels and in other large establishments are canning and preserving in large quantities this year; hospitals, and many other places that house a large number of people are preparing for the winter and what one can purchase for a small amount today can be turned into profitable dollars in a few months.

Favorite Recipe

Betty Ann

Mrs. John V. Fredrickson, who finished her small cucumber pickles a few days ago, and who just finished a delicious ripe tomato pickle which requires no cooking, is giving her recipes for both to Betty Ann readers:

Small Cucumber Pickles

Select cucumbers about three or three and one-half inches long. Wash in cold water.

Into two quart glass jar put four tablespoons dry mustard, four tablespoons salt, four tablespoons sugar, one teacup vinegar. Shake well to dissolve. Fill jar with cucumbers, packing them down well. Cover with cold vinegar, filling jar, and seal as for canned fruit. Let stand top side down until contents are well mixed, possibly for two or three days.

Celery seed, or mustard seed or dill may be added if desired. Celery seed gives the pickles a fine flavor.

713 South Fifteenth street.

Ripe Tomato Pickles

Two quarts peeled and chopped tomatoes.

One-fourth cup chopped celery.

Four tablespoons chopped red pepper.

Four tablespoons chopped onion.

Four tablespoons salt.

Six tablespoons sugar.

Six tablespoons mustard seed.

One-half teaspoon ground cloves.

One-half teaspoon ground cinnamon.

One teaspoon grated nutmeg.

One and three-fourths cups vinegar.

Mix in the order given and put in glass jars.

Mrs. Elsie McGee's recipe for green tomato pickles is being repeated in this morning's department in answer to the request of a Manistique reader who clipped the recipe but lost it, and who has written, asking that it be reprinted.

Green Tomato Pickles

One peck green tomatoes.

Twelve medium sized onions.

Two cauliflowers.

Three green peppers.

One bunch celery.

Three-fourths cup salt.

Two quarts vinegar.

Two pounds sugar.

Two-thirds cup whole spices.

Wash and slice tomatoes, peel onions and slice them, break cauliflower into small pieces, remove seeds of peppers and chop fine, and wash and dice celery. Place in a large preserving kettle in layers, sprinkling all with salt. Let stand over night. In the morning drain, add one quart vinegar and two quarts of water. Bring to a boil and cook fifteen minutes. Drain. Make syrup by boiling for fifteen minutes the other quart of vinegar, sugar and spices in a small bag. Add pickles. Bring to a boil and seal while hot.

The data were compiled for use in "Michigan Out-of-Doors," and cover the period from the opening of each institution to January 1, this year.

Pinecrest sanatorium, established in 1922, has been operated since that time at a net cost per day of $.806, exclusive of field work, and with the Copper Country sanatorium, at Houghton, second in the list at $.942 per day.

NICE SLEUTHING

Milwaukee — Virgil Ilgenfutz was caught in the plumbing shop of Frank Ffannensteil after $1 had been stolen. Ilgenfutz explained that he was in there to look for a pencil and paper to write a telegram. Policeman Smukowski thought that it was a funny place to go to write a telegram, so he looked at Virgil. On his nose was plainly imprinted the mark of a screen. The officer took that mark as evidence that Virgil was looking into the shop to see if the coast was clear and arrested him.

How Other Cities Feed the Jobless

BAY CITY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the Fourth of a series of articles outlining the unemployment relief movements in Michigan cities. How Kalamazoo aids the jobless will be told tomorrow).

BY SAM B. McCOOL

Bay City, Sept. 24. (AP)—Bay City and its immediate territory are seeking a new system of welfare relief looking toward the abandonment of the dole plan.

With county finances providing the bulk of the funds for the present system, public leaders are casting about for a new plan that has been used successfully in such places as Grand Rapids, Saginaw and Lansing. That plan does away with the dole and provides jobs for the needy.

Since the first of the year approximately $200,000 has been spent from the county poor fund and some $30,000 by the city social service department in direct welfare relief. The county's cost per indigent has mounted during the first six months of this year to $2.86 a month.

The dual system of relief in this community and the surrounding territory has brought a double public burden. County funds are raised by taxation while the money used by city agencies has been raised largely through subscriptions.

County funds are administered by the poor commission, two superintendents being in Bay City and the other in Essexville. Township supervisors care for the needy in the rural districts. The civic league, social service and nursing service are normal municipal agencies in the relief work of this community. In 1930, an emergency relief committee was also established which has rendered its greatest service in investigational work.

Funds of the civic league are derived from private donations, police court fines, and voluntary contributions by city employes from their salaries. The latter gave one-half day's pay each month last winter.

For the year ending Sept. 30, 1930, county poor fund expenditures amounted to $59,846 while the city's charity fund administered largely by the civic league expended $90,000, for the year ending July 1, 1930. Emergency and city employes' funds during the winter of 1930 and 1931 approximated $8,000.

Chicago still has 10 horseshoeing establishments, but only one has enough business to keep two employes.

Turtle Eggs Are Found Near Cooks

Cooks, Mich., Sept. 24. (Special)—While working on the right of way on the Soo Line near Tighes Lake, a mile from town, several weeks ago, Frank Silkworth found seven or eight mud turtle eggs which had been deposited there by turtles from the lake for incubation. They were about the size of bantam eggs and were given to little Freddie Miner, son of the section foreman. He placed them in the sand near his home and awaited results. In two or three weeks afterwards, they hatched out and while Fred was careful to keep in touch with developments, the turtles beat him to it for one day when he went, he found that all had hatched out, but only one little fellow remained. The others had all disappeared, presumably to their habitat at the nearest lake or mud puddle. The one remaining turtle, which is now over a month old, was brought home and adopted as a pet. His meals consist of bread crumbs and insects. He has a little can for a home and has proved to be a real pet, admired by many besides his owner. Occasionally, he is turned at large but is closely watched because of his repeated efforts to follow his brothers and sisters to the place where instinct impels them. When trying to escape he travels with surprising rapidity. At present he is quite tiny and could easily repose on a half dollar, possibly on a quarter but Freddie believes that there is lots of opportunity for him to grow to the size of his big brothers which sometimes measure nearly a foot in diameter.

Baby trout, like human infants, thrive on milk and orange juice.

Salt beds covering an area of 10 square miles have been found in Nova Scotia.

SAFETY PATROL GUARDS PUPILS

Junior High School Boys On Traffic Duty at Street Corners

The safety patrol at the new Junior high school, organized for the protection of those pupils who must cross Ludington street, now nearing its first four weeks of operation has merited much praise for the efficient manner in which it is working.

Four of the larger boys of the school are stationed at the corners of Ludington street during the periods following the noon and afternoon dismissals. The boys are equipped with stop signs on poles which are held in the traffic lanes to prevent automobiles from cutting thru the groups of pupils crossing the street.

Co-operation of the part of motorists has been excellent, according to the school principal, Clarence Zerbel, very few of them failing to heed the signs. Parents of children living on the south side of Ludington are urged to instruct the children to cross the street at these corners where they have protection, and not to continue on down the street where hazards are greater. Those pupils who ride bicycles have been instructed, at the suggestion of the Escanaba police department, to walk across Ludington street.

The boys who are on the safety patrol are: Carl Dickson, John Frechette, Hubert Erickson and Robert Jones. They will act for three weeks and will be succeeded by the following group: Robert Anderson, John Banks, Robert Hutte and Milton Nordin.

COOKS

Cooks, Mich., Sept. 24. (Special)—Philip Hamilton has returned to his home at Masonville after spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Louis Goumont.

George F. Gray has been appointed by the Department of Conservation to handle game and fish licenses in this district.

Authorized by Inwood Township officials, John Wallene and Alfred Lund, spent Tuesday improving the road from the depot into the latter's home yard.

Representatives of the Escanaba branch of the Salvation Army drove over to the home of Mrs. John Wallene Saturday and took away between fifty and sixty of her beautiful coleus plants. They intend to offer them for sale by auction in the near future, the proceeds of the sale to be used by the Army in their relief work in the city. The plants were a gift of Mrs. Wallene.

Mrs. Wittig visited friends in Fairport Wednesday.

The Willing Worker's society of the Congregational church held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Griffin, president of the organiation. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Otto Winkle a week from Wednesday's date. The last meeting had been originally scheduled to be held September 16 but had been postponed a week on account of the Manistique Fair.

Miss Nora Silkworth of Manistique returned Wednesday after spending a few days with her brother, Frank and wife.

Miss Dorothy Hamilton of this place spent the week-end with relatives at Masonville.

The local consolidated schools will close down early in October for nearly two weeks vacation. The school ma'ams are expected to attend the teachers' convention to be held at the Soo, and the youngsters will be helping at potato digging time.

One local farmer who has great faith that the potato raising industry will come back to its own, has made the statement that he intends to plant about one hundred acres to this crop next spring.

Miss Ione Tebo who was very seriously hurt in an automobile accident last May, has returned from the St. Francis hospital at Escanaba, to the home of her parents. While still improving she has not by any means completely recovered from the results of the accident.

Members of the Carley family, the father and three sons, who have spent the whole of the blueberry picking season at Sheldrake near the Soo, returned to their home here Tuesday night bringing with them two crates of berries for home consumption. They attracted much attention for they are the first berries to be seen here in a long time. Mr. Carley states that the picking on the whole has been good, and there are still many berries there but the price received has dropped to such a low figure as to make picking unprofitable. The price offered for the last pickings was only one dollar per crate.

Harry Bailey, who with his family, has spent the past summer in this town ,moved his household effects to Grand Marais Wednesday by auto truck. Part of his belongings had been left at his former home in Shingleton. The greater part of these could not be taken on to the new home at Grand Marais for the simple reason that some other thoughful person had already taken them to some other home. Mr. Bailey expects to be employed in the saw mill at Grand Marais.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray and Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts spent the week-end at Houghton. They also visited friends at Negaunee and Ishpeming. While in Houghton, Mr. Gray, who is the rural mail carrier from Cooks, purchased a new automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Gray also visited the Good-Will farm and brought back a three and a half year old girl and her eighteen months old sister, both of whom they expect to legally adopt in the near future.

Byron Wright, who was badly hurt while working in a stone quarry near the Soo several weeks ago, and who has since been a patient at the Soo Memorial hospital, is sufficiently recovered to be able to return to the home of his parents here.

"What will I give them for dinner tonight?"

IT is a question, isn't it? Every single night of the year you must manage to feed those hungry little mouths with a dinner that varies from last night's dinner, yet is equally appealing, well-balanced, wholesome and nourishing. Incidentally, you must keep within your food budget.

Why not follow the method of so many other mothers? That is; to plan your meals from the food advertising pages of the Press. It's wonderfully simple, and convenient. Because all the leading stores use the Press as their mouth-piece. When they have tempting offers, they give you complete descriptions and prices in the Press, when they have special bargains, they tell you about it in the Press. Every day, though especially on Saturday, they list their most attractive items.

Read the FOOD Advertisements

You won't have trouble varying your menu, or keeping it well-balanced and appealing, if you read the Press' food advertising regularly. In fact; you'll be flooded with fine, practical suggestions. Perhaps even more important, you'll be able to compare values and take advantage of the lowest prevailing prices. You'll soon find your food bills growing substantially lower. While your meals grow increasingly better.

FIGURES SHOW FAIR SUCCESS

More Exhibits in Every Department Reported at Exposition

That the Schoolcraft county twentieth annual fair was the biggest annual fair held is a foregone conclusion expressed by everyone who saw the exhibit last week. It is of interest to study several of the departments to find out where increases have been made and the reasons for some of these increases. In this connection the entry blooks for 1930 and 1931 in several of the departments have been gone over and the following information found:

One-third more Schoolcraft dairy cattle were exhibited at the fair this fall as compared to last year. The biggest gains were in purebred Guernsey females with 14 shown this year as compared to 8 in 1930, and in grade Guernsey females with 44 head show this year as compared to 33 a year ago.

In the sheep department 62 head were shown as compared to 48 head in 1930. The number of swine shown was the same as last year, due principally to the fact that half of the pens in the swine barn were used to house sheep to take care of increased numbers of sheep shown.

In the fruit department we find 406 exhibits of fruit as compared to 201 in 1930. The apple topped the list in the 1931 exhibit with 323 plants on display. In the vegetable department we find ample proof for feeling that the campaign this spring for more and better home gardens was a success.

There were for example, 132 exhibits of table vegetables shown as compared to 62 last year and 537 exhibits of vegetables as compared to 299 in 1930. If additional proof is needed we need only go over to the 4-H canning club exhibit to find that 172 exhibits of canned fruits and vegetables were shown this fall as compared to 36 exhibits last year.

Considerable effort was made previous to the fair by means of a special 4-H club circular and in various other ways to double the 4-H club exhibit. Just a week before the fair it was predicted in this paper that there would be double the exhibits in the 4-H club department.

Was this an idle boast or not? The entry books for the 1930 and 1931 fairs show that there were 347 exhibits in 4-H club work this fall as compared to 152 exhibits last year. The number of boys and girls exhibiting was increased from 64 in 1930 to 97 in 1931. This splendid gain is due to the fine support of the boys and girls, their leaders in summer work, and to the teachers in the rural schools acting as leaders in the winter 4-H club program.

The Smith-Hughes project group under the direction of Reed McGee, instructor in the Manistique high school, was another splendid example of what the boys and girls in Smith-Hughes projects are doing along agricultural lines. There were 51 exhibits in this exhibit as compared to none for 1930.

Time did not permit making a study of the balance of the departments and we believe that they too would have an interesting story to tell.

AGED PIONEER DIES IN DETROIT

Simon Boucher Passes Away Yesterday After Long Illness

Word was received here yesterday morning of the death of Simon Bouschor, 69, former well known resident of this city, who passed away in Detroit after a protracted illness of diabetes. He was one of the early pioneers of this county, having been born at Barque Point and residing in this vicinity prior to leaving for Detroit about ten years ago. His many friends here are deeply moved by his death.

For many years the deceased was the proprietor of a buffet at Thompson and later moved to this city making his residence on the west side. Up until the time of his death, Mr. Bouschor was employed by the City of Detroit. Since his residence in Detroit, Mr. Bouschor has visited here frequently, his last stay here was last spring after the death of his brother, Charles, at Proctor, Minn.

Survivors of the deceased are three brothers, Will and Henry of Seattle, Wash., and Nels, of this city, one sister, Mrs. Alec Daniels of Munising; two nephews, G. Leslie Bouschor and Wilfred Farley, of this city; and one niece, Mrs. Victor P. Deemer, also of this city.

Funeral services will take place Saturday in Detroit. Mrs. George Bouschor, G. Leslie Bouschor, Nels Bouschor, and Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Deemer left this morning by motor to attend the services.

Orr Drug Store Is Purchased by Detroit Druggist

Purchase of the Orr Drug store formerly operated by the late Elmer N. Orr, by John J. Howbridge of Detroit, was made known this week. Mr. Howbridge is well known in this city having married Miss Margaret Sandberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Sandberg.

Mr. Howbridge is a graduate of the University of Michigan school of pharmacy and for the past year and a half operated a drug store in Detroit. Prior to that time he was the proprietor of a drug store in Birmingham, Mich. He will arrive in the city the latter part of this week.

The building is being completely renovated with stock, fixtures and soda fountain being brought here from Detroit. The new store will not open for business for at least two weeks.

Pleads Guilty to Theft Of Turkey

Stealing a turkey proved costly to Albert Beaudry of Germfask township when he was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs amounting to $20 in default of which he will serve a 30-day jail term. Beaudry pleaded guilty to the charge in justice court yesterday morning and was committed to the county jail.

Beaudry took the turkey from James Berry, also of Germfask township, on Tuesday, September 22. The arrest was made by Sheriff John M. Hewitt.

Norway Spruce Is Adapted to School Forests In County

R. F. Kroodsma, forestry specialist with Michigan State college visited the Germfask school forest and the Inwood school forest with County Agent Lee Stewart, this week. Counts were made on the seedlings planted this spring. The Germfask plot had a 90 per cent stand where nothing but Norway Spruce was planted.

In the Inwood school forest the percentage of stand varied but the average for the plot of 9,000 seedlings planted would be a 90 per cent stand.

There was some doubt two years ago as to the advisability of planting spruce in this forest due to the character of the soil, it being a sandy loam and presented some danger of drying out especially during the month of August. Counts made, however, on solid rows of Norway spruce showed the stands to be just as good as where the white pine was planted.

THEATRES

RIALTO

The problem of finding a story as "big" as Betty Compson's name, caused Radio Pictures executives to sign Martin Flavin, well known author, to write an original story called "Three Who Loved" now showing at the Rialto theatre.

The method Flavin used was interesting. He gathered material from all the 50-odd pictures in which Miss Compson had appeared. He selected her best performance and from these gained and idea of her versatility.

With this information he set about writing a vehicle particularly adapted to the Compson talent and type.

Local police and others from neighboring towns were called in to arrest the drunken mob.

LOUVRE TO EXHIBIT "HOLY GRAIL" OF UNITED STATES

New York (NEA)—The goal which legendary Galahad sought for years, the "Holy Grail," the cup from which Christ is said to have supped at the Last Supper, has been in the United States for years, but few have known it. Now it is on its way to the placed on exhibit at the Louvre, in Paris.

"The Great Chalice of Antioch," said to be the Holy Grail, was dug from ruins of that Syrian city by Arabs and finally, after years of being stolen and transferred between art gatherers, fell into the hands of Fahim Kouchakji of this city. It was shipped here in 1914.

The chalice stands about eight inches high, consists of an inner cup of silver, crudely made, encased in an intricately sculptured sheating of silver and gold leaf. In the sculptured silver, Christ, a youthful figure, is in the midst of His disciples.

LAFF THAT OFF

El Paso, Tex.—A $200 fine and jail sentence is a laughing matter to Jose Portillo, 32, arraigned on a charge of selling stolen hardware. He laughed during the entire trial, despite the judge's warnings. "I'm just as happy in jail as out," he stated between chuckles.

McMillan Leading Center Candidate On Lawrence Squad

Myles McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan of this city, is the leading candidate for center on the Lawrence college football squad, according to an article in yesterday's Milwaukee Sentinel sports section. The first page also bears a picture of young McMillan in action.

In the story of Lawrence gridiron prospects, which do not appear to be overly bright this fall, it says of the local lad: "Myles McMillan, Gladstone, Mich., is among those who have a good chance to be on the first squad. McMillan is sure of winning the pivot berth unless some other youngster comes through fast, or unless Hovde, a veteran tackle and center, is used in that post. McMillan is just a stripling, weighing 154 pounds, but he passes well, is blessed with football brains and a keen fighting spirit. His spirit and fighting heart have made a strong impression on Coach Clapp."

McMillan gained his early football knowledge and training as a member of the Gladstone high school gridiron squad and played center on a couple of Coach Keil's crack elevens.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Nick Sigan Saturday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Nick Sigan, 34, will be held Saturday afternoon. Rites will be at 2 o'clock from the family home at 1224 Minnesota avenue, and at 2:30 o'clock from the First Lutheran church, Rev. Frank Swenson, Milwaukee, officiating.

Mrs. Sigan died early Wednesday morning at an Escanaba hospital where she had been confined for the past three weeks. Her passing left motherless, five small children, ranging in age from 2 to 11. Mrs. Sigan had resided in Gladstone for the past 12 years and had lived in Delta county her entire lifetime.

Surviving are her parents, her husband and five children, and two sisters and six brothers.

X—New 1930 Low.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Sept. 24, (AP)—The Wednesday rise in stocks was more than washed out today by a flood of selling which reached large proportions toward the close.

Final prices, as measured by the standard statistics—Associated Press composite, dropped 6.7 points to 84.8, the largest decline since June, 1930, against yesterday's gain of 5.7.

Professional short sales rolled in during the afternoon, augmented by further liquidation. The higher levels attained yesterday naturally attracted bear offerings, but the break was so emphatic that it was assumed further important liquidation had been drawn out. Sales totaled 3,128,833 shares, of which 1,000,000 shares changed hands in the last 50 minutes.

Profit-taking influenced the downward trend of the morning but until noon the reaction was no worse than was to have been expected after so sharp a rally.

Unfavorable News.

The day's news contained such items as the insolvency of an old Cologne, Germany, banking house and some unfavorable dividend actions—notably the omission by Anaconda and the Lakawanna cut—but Wall Street has been through much worse adversity, and so was somewhat at a loss for satisfactory explanations of the fresh weakness. It is possible, of course, that the short interest had been rather thoroughly eliminated earlier in the week, leaving no cushion of short covering underneath.

Market leaders made the poorest showing. U. S. Steel lost 7 3-4 net, American Telephone 8¼, American Can 6 5-8, Eastman Kodak 9 3-4, Atchison 15¼, Norfolk & Western 14, Union Pacific 11 7-8, General Electric 3 3-8, General Motors 3. Selling was on a large scale in many of these and other stocks.

Sterling exchange ruled sharply lower, fluctuating between $3.82 and $3.95 and closing at the bottom, off 29 cents. Scandinavian currencies were particularly soft. Swiss and Dutch were firm, while far easterns eased a little in sympathy with silver.

Weakness in Wall Street, a bearish Canadian crop estimate and large Russian weekly exports depressed wheat slightly more than half a cent; corn likewise returned fractional losses; cotton broke sharply after early gains of about $1 a bale, closing 90 cents to 31.05 lower.

Canadian Farmers Are Given Right To Sell On Mart

Washington (AP)—Cooperative marketing is making history in Canada.

Whereas wheat pool members once were bound by contract to deliver to their local units, the Manitoba pool now gives farmers the option of selling on the open market. The same drastic change of policy is said to be contemplated by the Saskatchewan and Alberta pools.

Combined, the western Canadian pools make up the celebrated Canadian wheat pool—central marketing agency for 147,000 farmer-members and generally accepted as an international model of cooperative marketing.

On the old closed contract basis the pool claimed more than 50 per cent of the annual Canadian crop. Agricultural interests in the United States, intensely interested in the new experiment, await the result of the extreme liberality with varying views.

Education, wages, pensions and super-annuations, and shop legislature were treated in resolutions passed at the recent Irish Trade Union Congress in Waterford, Ireland.

X—New 1931 Low.

New York, Sept. 24, (AP)—After opening generally higher on moderate activity the bond market reversed its trend today and closed with many sharp losses.

The closing average price of sixty representative domestic corporate loans was 86.1, a net loss of eight tenths of a point just about half the gain of yesterday. However, a number of bonds finished higher for the day. The majority of such issues reached higher ground when prices were advancing and did not sell when the slump was under way. Sales aggregated $23,895,000 on the stock exchange, the largest total for a full session since March 20, 1930 when the turnover was $30,121,000.

Sales of United Kingdom 5½s of 1937 exceeded $1,400,000 and the net loss was 2½ points. Issues with sales exceeding $100,000 and losses of 1 point or more included Italian 7s, German 5½s and 7s, Belgian 7s of 1955, American Telephone 5s of 1965, St. Paul 5s of 1975 and the 5s of 2000, Metropolitan Edison 4½s of 1968, Missouri Pacific Series I 5s, Pennsylvania Power & Light 4½s of 1981, and St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978.

Clothes Freedom at Cannes

With sun bathing on the crest of its wave of popularity at French bathing beaches this year, the amount of clothes is particularly marked at Cannes. Bathing dress is permissible practically everywhere. At one evening event at the Casino a very pretty girl was much admired in well-fitting white satin trousers, with a very original red and white embroidered silk jumper. Side by side with her were girls in the latest evening gowns, while men in evening dress chatted with bronzed yachtmen, who wore grey flannel trousers and sleeveless sweaters. Fred Scovell, a society leader in Cannes, won several matches in a tennis tournament dressed in dark blue shorts, a vest and a large sun hat.

Buttonhole badges and medallions to be attached to cars are being presented by the Vienna Automobile Club to motorists who drive five, 10 or 15 years without an accident or fine.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Sept. 24, (AP)—

Stocks: weak; yesterday's advances largely lost.

Bonds: heavy; governments reactionary.

Curb: weak; selling resumes.

Foreign Exchanges: irregular; Sterling breaks 20 cents.

Cotton: lower; weak stock market, southern selling.

Sugar: steady; trade buying.

Coffee: easy; European selling.

Chicago—

Wheat: easy; weak Wall Street, bearish Canadian estimates.

Corn: easy; larger estimated Argentine exports.

Cattle: steady to lower.

Hogs: lower.

Curb Stocks Move Lower With Trend On Bigger Board

New York, Sept. 24, (AP)—The curb market today followed the swift form reversal that swept other security exchanges and many active shares lost all or most of their Wednesday gains. Sales totaled 500,000 shares against 600,000 yesterday.

There was a fair degree of steadiness to the early dealings, but during the afternoon the trend was distinctly downward. Utilities led in activity and were also prominent in the day's weakness. Electric Bond and Share gave up 3½ points, which was exactly the size of Wednesday's advance.

Oils weakened also. Gulf lost 2¼ and Humble 4 3-8, while in Standards of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio the decline was between 1 and 3. Several pipe line shares were soft.

Some irregularity prevailed in the specialties, but firmness of Bigelow Sanford, Axton Fisher, British American Tobacco "B," Lerner Stores, Libby and Aluminum Ltd. was more than offset by substantial declines in Deere, Aluminum of America, Singer, Newmont Mining, Parker Rust and Wilson Jones, among others. The range of losses in these was roughly 2 to 14.

American machinery is being used in many coal mines in France.

Card of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks to all those who so kindly helped us during our recent bereavement, the loss of our dear mother, Mrs. Adeline Beauchamp. We also wish to thank Msgr. Jacques for his consoling words, all those who sent mass cards or flowers, those who furnished automobiles and all others who in any manner helped us during the trying period. We also express our appreciation to those who helped Mr. Lambert and who are still helping us in our sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelore Lambert

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Breaks in Wall Street securities threw a wet blanket on grain prices today, and more than overcame bullish effects of trans-Pacific war tension. Announcement from Washington that the department of agriculture was investigating economic possibilities regarding legalization of beer fell flat as a market influence, and so did later word that the American Legion national convention at Detroit had voted heavily for repeal or change of prohibition laws. Deliveries on September corn contracts kept heavy.

Wheat closed nervous at about the day's lowest level, ½-7-8 cents cheaper, corn 3-8-7-8 down, oats ¼-3-4 off, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 37 cents.

Corn and oats reacted with wheat and stocks. Deliveries on September corn contracts were 596,000 bushels. Chicago receipts, 117 cars compared with only 50 a week ago, were a further drag on the market.

Local Grid Squads to Hold Light Drills Today

FIND INJURED LIST RELIEVED

Harwood Only Lad Sure to Be Out of Game Tomorrow

As two prep football coaches yesterday took inventory of the sick and injured on their squads, they found the situation was much brighter than they had expected in spite of the fact that neither coach was ready to say his entire squad was in the best of shap for the annual Escanaba-St. Joseph grid scrap at the Escanaba athletic field tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Nordberg of the Eskymos who Wednesday reported a list of seven casualties on his first string announced yesterday that grave concern was felt now for only three of the boys. Harwood, guard, who is nursing a pulled tendon undoubtedly will be out of the scrap while Quinn and Reeves backfield men, both suffering heavy colds, probably will at least be in uniform ready to answer a call if they are needed. Quinn has been out most of the week while Reeves was stricken Wednesday and was forced to leave school yesterday morning. The lumps and bruises received by the other boys placed on the casualty list have been found to be not serious enough to warrant anxiety.

Secret Workout

The Parochial coach, Leo Brunelle, displayed most concern yesterday over the condition of Sharkey, veteran quarterback, who was out of the Vulcan game because of injuries. The wiry St. Joe signal caller however, has undergone treatment for the past two weeks and will be seen in action on Saturday for part of the game at least. He will, however, be oblidged to wear a nose protector because of a broken nose suffered last fall.

Brunelle said the rest of his squad was in as good shape as could be expected after a week of strenuous scrimmage.

That Nordberg hails the Parochials as a strong aggregation was evidenced yesterday when he called his first secret session of the year. Fans were excluded from the Thursday night workout and will again be locked out of the athletic field today.

The fight for positions on the two squads is practically over for this week as both teams will hold light drills today but the coaches were not yet ready to announce their probable starting lineups.

At St. Joseph three boys are making a play for the center post and although Ray Roy, veteran, seems to hold the inside track, both Harvey and Seymour have been performing brilliantly and are pushing Roy for his job. Another battle is for the left half back berth with Francis Kidd, a freshman, battling it out with Shimberg and Beauchamp for the job. Morin will get the call at quarterback if Brunelle decides to hold Sharkey out of the game for a time.

Nordberg has decided to wait until today or Saturday to see how his boys on the sick list are getting along before announcing a probable starting lineup.

Interest in the city scrap took another bound upward yesterday with pep meetings held in both strongholds. Pep sessions will be held again today at the local schools.

The street fans are well divided on their predicitions for the battle. Followers of the Purple can see nothing but a Parochial victory in the pre-game dope while staunch Orange and Black fans are ready to deny any reports that the Eskymos will not be able to hold their own on Saturday.

Westfall of Green Bay will handle the referee's whistle in the encounter.

Leading Batsmen In Big Leagues

(By The Associated Press)

Chuck Klein, the only National League batting leader to play a regularly scheduled game yesterday, yielded his place in the Big Six to Jim Bottomley of St. Louis, slipping off to fourth in the National League standing. Klein failed to connect with Pittsburgh pitching in four times at bat and dropped three points to .338. Eddie Morgan remained out of the Cleveland lineup and lost a chance to gain on his American League rivals. Al Simmons, the Big Six leader, was the only other member to get into action. He lost two points, hitting safely only once in five times up.

The standing:

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 24. (AP)—Bushy Graham, Utica, N. Y., featherweight, won a ten round decision over Bat Battalino, Hartford, Conn., world champion, in a non title bout at Redland Field here tonight. Battalino weighed 131¼ and Graham 127½.

CARNERA SET FOR SHARKEY

Fight Booked for Oct. 12 But Gob Says He Will Not Be Ready

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Primo Carnera, the vast Venetian, and Jack Sharkey are scheduled now to box fifteen rounds in Ebbets Field the night of October 12. But what with the hemming and hawing going the rounds today the only thing the faithful can be certain about is that October 12 will be Columbus Day. Tommy Loughran may tackle the giant in Ebbets Field October 1 or later, if a substitution is decided on.

After several days of complaint, Jack Sharkey appeared before four doctors at the New York state athletic commission today with an injured left finger and a request that the bout be postponed from the original date, October 1. Leon See, manager of Carnera, vehemently opposed the postponement.

Sharkey Not Ready

The physicians found, however, that there was a swelling at the base of the little finger on Sharkey's left hand and that a few days rest would repair the digit, injured originally in the Boston Sailor's draw with Mickey Walker. After much argument the commission set October 12 as the new date, ordered fighters to post $5,000 appearance forfeits by tomorrow noon, and gave Carnera permission to meet some "suitable" opponent at Ebbets Field October 1. Carnera insisted that he needed a match to keep in condition.

So while Jimmy Johnston, the promoter, hustled around to start negotiations with Loughran as Carnera's opponent on the first, Sharkey talked to newspapermen and indicated that he would not be ready to fight on the 12th of October, either.

"Unless I give this hand a good rest," he said, "as soon as I go into the gym again and begin punching the bags it will swell up."

He answered a flat "No" to the direct question: "Do you think you'll fight Carnera October 12?"

Loughran said he was willing and even eager to swap punches with the Italian giant, who would outweigh him almost 100 pounds. Tommy's boxing skill in the past year has overcome such giants as Max Baer, Ernie Schaaf, and Victorio Campolo, who is even taller than Carnera but scarcely as massive. Joe Smith, Loughran's manager, said articles for a fifteen-round match would be signed tomorrow.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—Adolph Sabik, sophomore halfback whose running and passing had assured him a starting position in the Indiana University football lineup, will be out of the Ohio University game Saturday which opens the Hoosters' schedule. Indiana training quarters announced today injuries will keep Sabik on the sidelines. The remainder of the squad, in fair shape, went through a light drill today, polishing its offensive.

Air freight of Netherlands lines is reported to be keeping up to the record figures of last year.

BEARS THREAT TO GREEN BAY

Chicago Pro Team Has One of Strongest Squads in Loop

Brute strength and football cunning in the line, plus speed and more brains in the backfield, characterizes the threat which will be tossed against the Green Bay Packers, national professional football champions, by the Chicago Bears, serious title contenders, at the City stadium here Sunday. The Bears are bringing to Green Bay one of the few lines in the National circuit which can match the Packers' in bulk, and to this array of power is added a dangerous, shifty backfield, featured by the appearance of Capt. Harold (Red) Grange and Bronko Nagarski.

The Bears' weight in the line extends even to the four capable wingmen, Flanagan, former Carnegie Tech flash, tips the scales at 185, while Drury, St. Louis, weighs 193. Another veteran flankman is Luke Johnsos, one time Northwestern star, who scales 195, and there also is Garland (Pinky) Grange, whose 178 pounds are no indication of his worth as an end.

Lots of Guard Tonnage

All kinds of tonnage at guard will be used against the champions here. Capt. Grange may call upon the services of Buckler, Alabama, whose 230 pounds will see plenty of use during the 1931 season. Other guards, with their respective weights, are Anderson, Northwestern 195; Carlson, Oregon Aggies, 211; McMillen, Nebraska, 226; Schuette, Wisconsin, 238; and Myers, Iowa, 206. Schuette is a Wisconsin product, living in Manitowoc, and is married to a Green Bay girl.

Green Bay backs skirting the Bears tackles will meet lots of opposition in the row of veterans and star yearlings assembled by the championship-bent Chicago squad. Lyman, of Nebraska, is the heaviest man on the team, scaling 252 pounds, and he may be supported by Burdock, Illinois, at 232; Lyon, Kansas Aggies, is certain to bring his 241 pounds into play, and Murry, Wisconsin, who weighs 195, also may be given the call. Another strong tackle is Hibbs, Southern California, at 195.

Brute Trafton at Center

Brute Trafton, veteran Chicago center, who has aged to the extent of 34 years but who is still as spry as a kitten on the professional gridiron, is sure to be tossed into action against the Packers for at least part of the time Sunday. Traftons antics in past years always brought sincere choruses of Bronx cheers from the Bay stands, and although he has quieted down temperamentally during the past few seasons, he still ranks as poison to many Packer fans. He weighs 225 and once played at Notre Dame.

On Sidelines at Grid Camps

EVANSTON, Illd, Sept. 24 (AP)—After three days of strenuous scrimmage, Coach Dick Hanley today terated the Northwestern football squad to a comparatively easy drill. A dummy scrimmage with the guards and tackles getting a lot of attention, and a forward passing session in which the receiving end showed improvement, was the extent of the day's activity.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Don Birney, an experienced halfback, was today declared eligible, and a share of Coach A. A. Stagg's University of Chicago football worries were eliminated. Birney is a good passer and kicker, and will see action in Saturdays double-header. Stagg plans to use two veteran and two recruit backs in his starting backfields against Hillsdale and Cornell (Iowa).

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Minnesota regulars returned to scrimmage today but it lasted only long enough for them to tramp down the field against the scrubs to a touchdown.

Pete Somers, leading quarterback candidate, and good forward passer, suffered a possible disiocation of the little finger on his throwing hand.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke worked what probably will be his regular backfield on defense against forward passes today, and also made some shifts in the Illinois line. Bob Horsley, Gil Berry, Art Schultz and Dave Cook operated as the regular backfield and did well in breaking up passes from Singer to Frink and Schustek, ends. Boyd Owen, an end last season, was moved to tackle.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 24 (AP)—Steady rainfall here this afternoon failed to slow Coach Burton Ingwersen's search for new University of Iowa tackles. Samuelson, the "find" of the season, and Baker, 200 pound prospects, were shelved last night with shoulder injuries. Ingwersen shifted Akin, a guard, to tackle and doubled attention to Meltzer, one of the few 200-pounders on the squad.

LAFAYETTE Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—In search of more reserve power, Coach Kizer sent his third and fourth elevens through a long scrimmage against the yearlings here tonight. Using a backfield composed of three sophomores and one junior, the third stringers tore through the frosh after getting off to a slow start. Purdue's regulars were worked on defense against frosh teams in dummy scrimmage.

Grimes Seeks First Call in World Series

BY SHERMAN M'NALLY

St. Louis, Sept. 24 (AP)—Big Burleigh Grimes, Cardinal hurler who has been tossing them up for National league batters these 15 years, tonight loomed bigger than ever as a probable starter against the Athletic in the coming world series. The veteran right hander's appearance in the charity game with the Browns this afternoon set wise tongue wagging with the explanation that he needed the workout following a recent sick spell. Earlier predictions that he might be reserved for relief work in the pinches were revised in view of Manager "Gabby" Street's apparent desire to test the big fellow out under fire.

Grimes

"Gabby," who often keeps his own counsel far better than his nickname might indicate, had nothing to say. Burleigh, less reticient, confesses his life's ambition is to beat his last year's rival Lefty Grove, and he will let slip no opportunity to talk his manager into another chance at achieving it.

Haines Is Injured

Paul Derringer, sensational rookie, and Bill Hallahan, the club's only southpaw moundsman, continued favorites for starting assignments in pre-seriees gossip, as further discouraging reports were received on the state of Jesse Haines' injured shoulder.

The muscles, wrenched in a game with the Pirates, "have not come around as expected," Manager Street said today, expressing fear that Jesse "will not be ready." Should the series be prolonged, however, there appears a fair chance of his getting into one of the later games.

Both Derringer, "freshman" pitching sensation of the league, and Hallahan have season's records comparing favorably with Grimes'. Each has won nearly a score of games while Hallahan shared with Haines the Cards' two victories over the A's last fall.

GLENNA, ENID WIN MATCHES

American, English Golf Champions Advance to Semi-Finals

BY ROBERT J. CAVAGNARO
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Buffalo Country Club, Williamsville, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—The queens of American and British golf, Glenna Collett Vare and Enid Wilson, reached the semi-finals of the United States women's championship today in company with two of this country's outstanding younger stars, Helen Hicks of New York and Virginia Van Wie of Chicago.

The quarter-finals were featured by the sparkling triumph of Miss Van Wie over her New Jersey rival, Maureen Orcott of Englewood, 2 and 1, but produced no upsets. Mrs. Vare, the five-times champion, easily disposed of Mrs. Leo Federman of New York, 5 and 4, while the British titleholder, Miss Wilson, scored over her countrywoman, Marjorie Kerr, 4 and 3. Miss Hicks eliminated the last California contender, Miss Leona Pressler of San Gabriel, 4 and 3.

Wilson vs. Hicks

Mrs. Vare's opponent in the 18-hole semi-final matches tomorrow will be Miss Van Wie, while Miss Wilson plays Miss Hicks in a match that brings together two of the longest range feminine games in golf.

The 22-year-old girl, Miss Van Wie, who has twice been the national runner-up in the past three years, played superbly to force Miss Orcutt out of the title picture. Her victory atoned for her defeat by the New Jersey girl in the North and South finals last spring.

In spite of a penalty at the 13th hole, where her second shot came to rest beneath an apple tree and was unplayable, Miss Van Wie played the 17 holes in 77 strokes, one over women's par for that distance. Miss Orcutt's total was 79, due chiefly to costly mistakes on the 12th and 17th holes.

The other semi-finalists scored impressively. Mrs. Vare was out in 39, two under women's par, and gained a 6 up lead that was too much for Mrs. Federman to do anything about. The champion's steadiness, especially around the greens, was conspicuous in contrast to the New York woman's wildness. Mrs. Federman took the 10th and 13th, her only winning holes, but Mrs. Vare shot a birdie four to end the mach on the 14th.

Communication

September 23, 1931.

Mr. Ken Gunderman,
Daily Press, City.

Dear Ken: In order that we may correct a wrong impression regarding the $225 guarantee to the Stambaugh team, please allow me to inform you that there is only one game scheduled between the Stambaugh All Stars and the Rangers this fall, and to protect them against the loss which they would have to take by not playing the return game at Stambaugh, we gave them this amount. We felt that November 11 at Stambaugh would be too late in the season.

It is highly possible that Stambaugh will come to Escanaba again at the close of the season, provided the weather is seasonable.

Will you kindly print this in your next issue?

Sincerely yours,
ESCANABA ATHLETIC ASS'N.

YALE WILL USE VARIED SYSTEM

Elimen Will Learn How to Forward Pass by Bennie Friedman

BY FOSTER HAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 24, (AP)—The final pigskin trench has fallen before the charge of modern football. Yale, die-hard of the east, will send into action this fall an eleven that will play some Notre Dame football, a little that is Dartmouth, and considerable of the Michigan brand.

Definitely and perhaps reluctantly the orthodoxy of line bucks, simple off-tackle charges, end sweeps, and uncertain forward passes Tad Jones taught as the "Yale system" has been abandoned. The Elis will retain the old kick formation but a modified Notre Dame shift has been perfected by "Bucky" O'Connor, one of the late Knute Rockne's climax runners last season, now one of head coach Mal Steven's assistants.

Adam Walsh, first of the Notre Dame stars to join the Yale coaching staff, has brought along the South Bend style of line play and blocking. But probably the greatest innovation of the season will be the forward passing as taught and practiced by Benny Friedman, late of Michigan and the professional ranks, the greatest forward passer the game knows today.

"We have built up what we think is a good system," Mal Stevens says. "It contains many old Yale fundamentals but curiously enough Dartmouth has given us ideas from actual competition almost equal to those of Notre Dame, although with Walsh and O'Connor here, their ideas are fresher."

As to man power for the execution of the new system, no head coach could ask or expect more. There is little Albie Booth, for instance, captain this year, a great open field runner, passer, and line plunger despite his mite poundage. Albie is due to catch more forwards than he throws this fall in order to ease him into the open with as little bodily contact as possible. His appendix is said to be bothering him a bit.

Yale lost two guards, a center and a tackle by graduation but Barres and Flygare are back on the ends, Wilbur and Hall are fine tackles, Rotan and Tyson first class guards, and there are many good center candidates. Joe Crowley, a great plunger, Taylor, Muhlfeld, Sullivan, Heim, Parker, Hughes, Sandberg, Lassiter and Levering provide all the backfield support Booth will need.

The schedule:

Oct. 3 Maine, Oct. 10 Georgia, Oct. 17 Chicago at Chicago, Oct. 24 Army, Oct. 31 Dartmouth, Nov. 7 St. Johns of Maryland, Nov. 14 open, Nov. 21 Harvard at Cambridge, Nov. 28 Princeton.

Gladstone Reserves To Play Rock Squad

Rock, Mich., Sept. 24 (Special)—The Rock high school gridders will blow the lid off the 1931 season Saturday when they meet a reserve crew from Gladstone on the local field.

A squad of about twenty-five players have been practicing diligently for the past two weeks under Coach Weingartner, and the latter announced that he was fairly well pleased with their performances, especially several newcomers. Scrimmages thus far have been marked by much pep and enthusiasm on the part of the players. This is probably due to the fact that there is real competition for various positions this year. In the past few years, so few players were available that almost everyone who reported was sure of a position.

Coach Weingartner did not name a starting lineup for Saturady's game, but on the basis of practice sessions, it should be somewhat on the following line: Sayen and Lauri, ends; Capt. Sayen and Kaukola, tackles; Connors and Norman, guards; McCracken, center; Johnson, quarterback; Maki and Aalto, halfbacks; and Larson, fullback. That lineup will undoubtedly see many changes in the game, however.

Many fans have shown a keen interest in the team during practice and it is expected that, weather permitting, a large crowd will be on hand to witness the debut of the 1931 Little Giants.

Latimer, of Gladstone, will hanble the referee's whistle. Other officials have not as yet been named. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock, central standard time.

Philadelphia Ace Holds Boston to Five Hits and Wins, 9-4

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP)—Lefty Grove held the Boston Red Sox to five hits and turned in his thirty-first victory of the season against three defeats for the Philadelphia Athletics today. The score of the triumph was 9 to 4.

Wilcy Moore, opposed to the great lefthander, was pounded almost at will. The champions piled up senen of their runs in four successive innings in the middle of the game.

COOKMEN WILL PLAY ALGERITES

Class C Conference Gridiron Tilt at Munising Saturday

Munising, Mich., Sept. 24—The football season will open with a bang Saturday afternoon when Manistique and Munising high school squads face each other on the gridiron at the local ball park. As Manistique is a strong rival that always put up a great battle there is sure to be a great crowd of local fans attracted to the game. The Manistique team will be accompanied by a large delegation of rooters. The visiting school is bringing their band.

The bands of the two schools will combine and give a short concert in the business district before the game and will then march to the park where they will play during the intervals. These are two of the best high school bands of the upper peninsula and are a big feature of themselves.

Although Coach Jackson has much green material on the squad, the ads showed up very well before the strong alumni team last Saturday and the greatly improved squad is expected to make a much better showing against Manistique than was made last year.

There are enough experienced men to give the team poise and the new members look very promising. Artibee, Leiphart, Keller, True and Randa form the nucleus of a good line, while Cihak and Carmody are the foundation of a great backfield. Dott, Wallace, Seglund and Light promise strength to the line, and Lawie, Robar, Pangborn and Peterson look good for plugging up the back field.

The game starts at 2:30. L. H. Halverson of the Northern State Teachers' College, Marquette, and Alvin Neimi, of Ishpeming, will officiate.

Pirates Drop Last Game to Phillies

Pittsburgh, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates ended their home season today by dropping the rubber game of a three contest series to Philadelphia, 5 to 1. Jim Elliott, in setting down the Pirates with five hits, turned in his nineteenth victory of the season. French, the losing hurler, was nicked for a run in four successive innings.

LaJuenesse Rests As Kipke Drives His Football Team

Ann Arbor, Sept. 24 (AP)—Coach Harry Kipke gave the regulars on his University of Michigan football squad new plays this afternoon while two makeshift elevens, composed mainly of men who failed to see much service in the scrimmage Monday, battled through a regulation game on old Ferry Field.

Howard Auer, again slated to fill one of the tackle positions, was not in uniform due to an infection of his right ear which bothered him last season. Omer LaJeunesse, guard, while in uniform, did not participate in the blocking drills due to an injured thigh. It is expected, however, that he will be in shape within a few days.

With Jack Heston, Herm Everhardus and Tessmer booting the ball, Kipke sent those of his squad in shape down the field, giving his backfield candidates more than a half hour of blocking, a department in which the Wolverines have been weak. The fight for the punting job still goes on with Everhardus showing a slight edge in consistency.

LIBERTY HURT, CAN'T BE USED

Crowley's Injury List at Spartan Camp Is Still Growing

Lansing, Sept. 24, (AP)—Michigan State finished its football scrimmage program of the week today with a long workout for a reserve eleven which remained on the side lines yesterday when the first string team had its punishment.

A hastily recruited but inspired freshman team fought stubbornly to hold the more experienced varsity to limited yardage. With the scrimmage confined solely to an offensive drill for the varsity, Coach James H. Crowley saw his men make only four touchdowns before the afternoon session ended.

Crowley continued his scathing critical tactics, repeatedly calling men out of the lineup for an individual lecture. The coach expressed disappointment over the drill as it ended.

With the exception of Ralph Brunette, veteran tackle, all the men that started were reserves. Captain Milton Gross went in at a guard later in the session when Crowley ordered Russell Lay to the bench for his deficiencies. Bernard McNutt, the big Allegan sophomore, was forced to yield to Kenneth LaFayette at fullback when he was slightly injured.

Liberty Hurt.

James Dekker was at center flanked by Lay and George Carlson. Exo and Brunette played the tackles and Harold Haun and Roger Keast the ends. In the backfield were Sammy Schwartzberg at quarter; Warren and Beattie at the halves; and McNutt at fullback.

McNutt again looked impressive. He ran for two touchdowns before a bruised muscle forced him from the line-up. It was announced his injury is not serious.

Crowley's injury list continues to grow. Clifford Liberty, the Gladstone halfback, has a slight fracture of the collar-bone and will be of no use in the Alma game. Other injuries include Dill and Dave Hosler, reserve tackles; and Ferrari, reserve guard.

Yankees and Giants Win from Brooklyn

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Yankees gave New York a clean sweep over Brooklyn in the charity double-header today by winning the second game 5 to 1 after the Giants had downed the Robins in the opened 3 to 1. Lary, Dickey and Gehrig hit home runs for the Yankees.

DETROIT LOSES TO CLEVELAND

Rookie Pitcher Turns in Second Victory for Indians, 6-4

Cleveland, Sept. 24, (AP)—Oral Hildebrand, rookie right hander from Indianapolis, today won his second major league game by nosing out veteran Earl Whitehill to give the Cleveland Indians the opening game of their final series with the Detroit Tigers 6 to 4.

The Indians massed six hits for four runs in the first but the Tigers tied it with a three run rally in the sixth. Whitehill, who had tightened meanwhile, was reached for the winning run in the seventh.

Escanabans Watch Big Legion Parade

BY L. A. DANIELSON

Detroit—From breakfast time until 8 p. m., Escanaba Legionnaires watched 150,000 march by in an eight-hour Legion parade. And as they watched the Michigan delegation swing by last just before eight in the evening, the Escanaba men regretted only that the Upper Peninsula was not represented with a marching body of men and more particularly that the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps was not here.

Marinette's corps was the nearest to home, and they were among the best. In all, the hundreds of corps that took part in the parade, not one had uniforms like the Escanaba red and blue. Marinette wears a suit of all light blue similar to the coats of the Escanaba corps and this color showed up to excellent advantage in the parade. Three of the Escanaba men who watched the parade, none of them a member of the corps, declared that the hometown corps has a swing and a marching cadence that would make them stand out—even among the hundreds of units in the parade.

We sought our perches to view the parade at 9 a. m. in order to get a satisfactory vantage point. At noon the parade started and from then on the men and women of the Legion swung by in seemingly endless procession. A few munched sandwiches or apples, but most of us went lunchless and there were some big meals eaten in Detroit hotels that night.

The upper peninsula was represented in the parade. There were men in the line from Manistique and other points, but not as separate units. We missed the hometown drum and bugle corps.

T. F. Kessler, Fred Hoyler and Emerson Harvey left for home Wednesday night.

The wholesale business of the U. S. amounts to $70,000,000,000 a year, the U. S. census bureau announces.

U. P. Briefs

Lots of Water

Menominee.—The Menominee river is already showing the effects of the unusual rainfall of the last few days, The M. & M. Paper Co., which recently had to shut down two of its machines because of low water, report that there is an abundant flow now, in fact the company is "spilling" some of it. Reports indicate that the rain fall has been widespread over this northern country.

Libel Case Scheduled

Iron Mountain.—Friday of the week—according to all indications—will be field day for the local politicians for at 10 o'clock in the morning, Leslie E. Vrooman, residing at the Harding hotel, in this city, will be called into municipal court to answer to charges of criminal libel brought by Walter A. Henze, former mayor and now fourth ward supervisor, as the result of an article signed by Vrooman and appearing in a recent issue of the Capitol Times, published by W. H. Marolf, and at 7 o'clock in the evening a special meeting of the Iron Mountain city council will be called in a third attempt to do something about the proposed city budget for the fiscal year 1932-33.

Daylight Saving Time

Iron Mountain.—That the newly enacted eastern standard, daylight-savings law, made effective September 18, but so far unenforced by a single institution or agency in this city, is in all probability meant to apply only to the courts of the state and for election purposes, is the opinion of Paul Rahm, prosecutor, who has returned from a 10 days' vacation in Minneapolis, Minn.

W. S. Cudlip, county clerk, and Harold Lindholm, city clerk, have withheld definite opinions on the meaning of the law, pending the prosecutor's return, although both have been inclined to the same belief as that set forth by Rahm today.

Sportsmen Meeting

Amasa.—Local sportsmen are interested in the plans for the 1931 annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association to be held Saturday, September 26, at Amasa, in Iron county. Details of the program have been received by members of the Iron Mountain unit.

Clubs affiliated with the association will be entitled to one delegate for every 50 members or fraction thereof. Delegates to represent Iron Mountain will be announced within a few days.

Peter Trudell, Jr., of Negaunee, president of the association, says Amasa sportsmen have made elaborate preparations for entertaining the delegates and that the program will be unusually interesting.

Detour on US-141

Iron Mountain.—All traffic on U. S. highway 141, between Niagara and Pembine, will be detoured to U. S. highway 8 and county trunk lines "O" and "N" while the road is under construction, the state engineer's office announced today.

All traffic south on highway 141 will turn to the right on county trunk line O at the western end of Main street to a point west of Pembine where it joins U. S. 8 leading into Pembine. The distance is but very little more than the direct route from Niagara to Pembine and the road will be kept in good condition.

Pastor Returns

Houghton.—The Rev. Henry Rogers, pastor at different times of several Methodist Episcopal churches in the Copper Country and later assigned to charges in the Iron country, will return here to this district to resume a new pastorate, as the result of appointments announced by Bishop Thomas Nicholson at the conclusion of the Detroit annual conference. The Rev. Mr. Rogers has been named as pastor of the Mohawk church, succeeding H. J. Oatey. He formerly was pastor of the Pewabic and Painesdale churches and comes to the Copper Country from the Salisbury and National Mine churches, Ishpeming.

The other change in the Copper Country pastorates as the result of the conference is the appointment of the Rev. H. C. Cooley, former pastor of the Pewabic Methodist church, to succeed the Rev. H. C. Cooley, former pastor of the Pewabic Methodist church, to succeed the Rev. G. G. Hicks as pastor of the Laurium church.

U. P. Bottlers Meet

Marquette.—The 1932 convention of the Upper Peninsula Bottlers' association will be held in Ishpeming, it was decided here yesterday morning at the business session which closed the annual two-day meeting of that organization. The dates for the 1932 meeting will be September 22 and 23.

All present officers of the association were re-elected for another year. They are: L. C. Hansen, Menominee, president; George Harvey, Laurium, vice-president; Y. H. Hanson, Wakefield, secretary and treasurer.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.
